Bank Roof Is Damaged By Fire Here on Monday

Quick Action by Firemen Cuts Down Damage; Chief Thinks Short Circuit Was Cause

Fire which had started in the ceiling of a storage room on the third floor of the Kingston Trust Company building at Main and Fair streets at 4:45 o'clock Monday afternoon, burned through the ceiling of the room and reached the roof timbers but the damage was not extensive and water damage was slight.

George Kaufman was dictating to a stenographer in his office on the second floor when smoke was observed. An investigation disclosed the fire and an alarm was sent in from box 1421 to which the firemen from nearby Wiltwyck engine company quickly responded.

One stream was put on the fire and other lines were laid in the event of need but the firemen did such quick work in subduing the fire that there was little damage. Tarpaulins were laid to protect furnishings on the second floor and there was no damage on the ground floor which is occupied by the bank.

After the fire Chief Murphy stated that the blaze may have been started from a short circuit in the ceiling light fixture on the third floor.

The fire brought out a large crowd of spectators and for a time traffic was tied up until police officers started traffic moving again. Lieut. Stoudt and seven officers were on the scene directing traffic.

Youth Canteen Is Closed; Future of Project Uncertain

Heater Repairs Given as Reason for Shutdown; Students to Act on New Policy

The Colonial Youth Canteen building, the former Clara Norton Reed House at Crown and John streets, has been returned to Claremont Robert Morris, the owner, according to a report made to the police department yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Frederick Stang, president of the board of directors for the canteen.

A meeting of all student members has been called at Kingston High School for Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. when future policies of the canteen will be determined. The building has been closed since Friday because of repairs being made to the heating equipment.

Mr. Morris told a Freeman reporter today that he is planning to move his real estate office and residence from 436 Broadway to the Canteen building as soon as possible. He accepted the offer of the canteen corporation to release them from the lease in a conversation with the board of directors Sunday and received the keys to the building Monday.

Auto Dealers Hit Dewey's Program On Testing Cars

Claim System They Could Work Would Cost Less Go Into Operation in Shorter Time

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Governor Dewey's proposal for periodic motor vehicle examinations at state-operated stations has drawn sharp criticism from an automobile dealers group as inefficient and costly.

The governor also recommended a 50-mile an hour speed limit and a new state safety division in an accident prevention program outlined last night to the legislature.

M. H. Yager, chairman of the New York State Automobile Dealers, Inc., Legislative Committee, criticized the governor's inspection plan on the ground it would take 1½ to two years to establish. Yager estimated the cost would be $5,000,000 initially and $1,500,000 more each year to operate about 170 state-owned stations.

Instead, Yager, claiming to speak for 2,500 dealers, asked approval of a bill before the lawmakers which would provide for about 2,000 privately-owned inspection stations, to be approved by the Motor Vehicle Bureau. He said their operation would cost the state about $200,000 and that the system could be begun at once.

Within the time it would take to set up the governor's plan, Yager contended, "many of the jalopies and unsafe motor vehicles will have left the highways and exacted their toll of lives."

Following the chief recommendations of the safety conference he summoned recently, Dewey advocated:

1—A 50-mile speed limit, with greater speeds to be permitted in certain zones; compulsory re-examination of motor vehicles "accident repeaters," and mandatory, periodic motor vehicle inspections. A 35-mile an hour speed limit, established during the war, is still in effect.

2—Distinctive, uniform markings and front and rear flashing red lights for school buses.

3—A safety division in the executive department to coordinate a continuous safety program in cooperation with localities.

4—Authorization for "walk" signals in traffic control, increased local authority to control pedestrian traffic, and state regulation of such traffic on state roads.

Strike Deadlock

London, March 12 (AP)—A dozen representatives of the 11,000 sit-down strikers in the Ford automobile factory were appointed today to call on members of Parliament for help in settling a minor wage dispute and in preventing the company from going through with its announced decision to close the plant March 16. The Ministry of Labor has taken no action in the Ford case or in that of the Austin Company at Birmingham, where 1,000 strikers were joined today by another 2,000 of the employes.

Auto Union Criticizes O.P.A. Plan

Pressure Being Brought for Ups on Cars, Milk, Butter and Gasoline by Dealers

Ask 3 Per Cent

Car Industry Is the Least Entitled to Hike Says Union Spokesman

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, March 12 (AP) — A C.I.O. United Auto Workers official blasted today at O.P.A.'s plans for new-car price ceilings, saying this means "not a bulge in the price line but an explosion."

"If O.P.A.," said Donald Montgomery, U.A.W. consumer counsel, "plans to give price increases to the auto industry, then they'll be dishing them out of the bucket."

Montgomery made these statements to a reporter after O.P.A. announced that higher prices are on the way for Chrysler, Ford and Hudson cars. These companies applied for increases to offset pay boosts granted under the administration's wage-price formula.

Milk, butter and gasoline also are on the list of items on which pressure is being applied to O.P.A. for higher prices.

Until the new car prices are announced for the three firms, they and their dealers must continue to sell cars at current ceilings, but they can require an agreement that customers will pay the increase when it is put into effect.

An O.P.A. official who asked to remain anonymous estimated that the price hike for manufacturers probably will not exceed three per cent (of $45 on a $1,500 model), and he predicted that dealers might be required to absorb part of it. Dealers' pre-war profit margins already have been trimmed by O.P.A. to prevent the full amount of earlier increases from being passed on to the public.

Montgomery said that "of all industries, the auto industry is least entitled to price increases."

He said O.P.A. apparently was ignoring a provision of the policy which requires O.P.A. to take into account an industry's prospects for increased production and lower costs.

The stabilization formula requires a level of prices which assures at least 1936-39 profits.

An O.P.A. official made the point that the wage-price formula excludes industries operating at temporary low volume from price increases as large as other industries may receive. He said this provision would apply in the case of auto companies.

Chrysler, Ford and Hudson are the only firms which have applied for price increases thus far. Other firms for which ceilings have been set include Studebaker and Nash. None have been announced for the strike-bound General Motors line.

Larkin Advises Precaution Against Diphtheria Here

No Cases Are Reported in City but Disease Spreads in Other State Areas

Although no cases of diphtheria have been reported in Kingston so far this year, the outbreak of the disease in other sections of the state has emphasized the importance of having all children of the city immunized against diphtheria, according to Dr. John F. Larkin, health officer of Kingston.

Dr. Larkin in a statement issued today points out that diphtheria knows no boundaries. He said that at present there is a case of diphtheria in a nearby community, and urges all parents to take their children who have not been protected against the disease to their private physician or avail themselves of the toxoid clinics which are held every Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 4 o'clock in the Kingston Health Center at 25 East O'Reilly street.

The health officer in his statement says:

The recent upswing in a number of deaths from diphtheria in upstate New York warns of the need for intensification of mass immunization programs.

From January 1, 1945 to December 15, 1945, 121 cases, including 11 deaths, from the disease were reported. Although low compared with the fatalities reported prior to 1938, this figure represents a considerable increase over those for recent years. During 1944, only 56 cases with 3 deaths were reported.

The upward trend is significant in view of the concurrent rise in diphtheria prevalence in Europe where the disease is pandemic. The office of the Surgeon General reports a rise also in diphtheria in the Army for the past year or two, both in the United States and abroad. Secondary cases of the disease and one death have been reported upstate in the families of two veterans who according to the evidence seem to have brought infection back with them from overseas, one from Germany and the other from the South Pacific. While it is not believed that the introduction of diphtheria by returned troops will constitute a source of significant number of civilian cases, it is suggested in view of the rather general rise in diphtheria incidence in most parts of the United States that a period of increased prevalence may be in progress. All of these facts re-emphasize the need for immunization against this disease.

O.P.A. Blamed for Strife Between Tenants and Landlords

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Congress, allergic to election-year hot potatoes, juggled a request today for a mandatory 15 per cent hike in the general rent level of residential property throughout the nation.

The recommendation was presented to the House Banking Committee by representatives of rental property owners who argued that such a boost is essential in justice to the property owners.

They urged that provision for a compulsory increase be written into pending legislation to continue O.P.A. price controls for another year after June 30.

A spot check of committee members indicated coolness to any such blanket increase, which obviously would affect a host of rent-paying voters. However, there were some signs an attempt might be made to have any revised O.P.A. law carry an emphatic direction that rents must reflect a fair return on residential property value.

In addition to the touchy election-year aspects of the proposal, it also involved the consideration that the increase would mean higher expenses for members of Congress who rent homes in Washington, or in their own constituencies.

The rent increase was recommended by George M. Englar of Baltimore, president of the National Apartment Owners Association, and Arthur D. Koppel, vice chairman of the Metropolitan Fair Rent Committee of New York.

Charge Propaganda by O.P.A.

They contended O.P.A. has conducted a propaganda campaign, arousing tenants against owners and inciting class hatred.

Koppel declared O.P.A. has "consistently pursued a policy of controlling rents without regard to the ability of the owner to earn a reasonable return—in many cases any return at all—on the fair value of his property at the level of rents established."

In addition to a general increase in rents, the representatives of property owners proposed:

1. Exemption of all newly created housing units from rent control.
2. Withdrawal of O.P.A. federal residential rent control from states adopting their own residential rent control laws.
3. Recognition "that an owner is entitled to a reasonable return on the fair value of his property."

Red Cross Drive Has Reached $14,000

The Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, announced today that the current fund campaign had reached a total of $14,000 in the county's drive for the quota of $46,000.

Reports from the First Ward in the city of Kingston show returns of $1,700 on a quota of $2,300, while the town of Woodstock has collected $1,128 against its quota of $1,900.

Wage Judgment Is Filed by Police And City Firemen

Legal Action Is to Recover Pay Increases Not Provided For in 1946 Budget

Judgment was filed yesterday in the sum of $1,104.14 in the action brought in Supreme Court by the members of the city police and fire departments against the City of Kingston to recover increases in salary which had been authorized by the two boards but withheld from January first to February 15, when action was commenced, because no provision is made in the 1946 budget to meet the payments.

Francis Martocci, attorney for the police and fire department members, filed the judgment yesterday in accordance with the decision of Justice Schirick of the Supreme court, directing payment of the increases, following a motion for judgment on pleadings which was heard by Justice Schirick.

The amount of the judgment represents the pay which has been withheld from the first of the year to February 15. Papers were served on Corporation Counsel Arthur B. Ewig in the matter late Monday.

Increases were authorized last year to the police and fire department members and paid last year but payments were stopped the first of this year when the amount for such increases was taken from the budget when it was revised on order of the Supreme court after a taxpayers action had been brought to compel the city to keep its budget within the 2 per cent limitation as provided by law.

Employees, in order to secure this extra salary, will now file a claim against the city for payment of the increase as salaries become due. In this way the employees will be paid the extra money authorized last year but not included in this year's budget. Under the law salaries must be included in the budget but claims and judgments may be paid out of funds which are not specifically provided for in the budget. It is believed a system will be worked out between counsel for the petitioners and the corporation counsel to meet these payments of extra salary as they become due.

Help for Strikers

New York, March 12 (AP)—The C.I.O. Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America said today it had sent a check for $100,000 to striking General Motors Co. employes in Detroit. Sidney Hillman, Amalgamated president, said in a letter to George Addes, secretary-treasurer of the C.I.O. United Automobile Workers, that the successful outcome of the prolonged strike was of vital importance "not alone to the automobile workers but to all organized labor."

Agriculture Heads Are Optimistic About '46 Production

By OVID MARTIN

Washington, March 12 (AP)—The best fed nation in the world heard a plea today to cut its food consumption by 40 per cent in wheat and 20 per cent in fats to help save a half-billion famine victims overseas.

The appeal of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee said such a mighty, volunteer effort on the part of Americans was needed for the next 120 days to tide the hungry abroad over "a terrible four months until the next harvest."

The committee offered almost two-score suggestions on how the public could cooperate in the food-conservation campaign. They ranged from a 10 per cent cut in the weight of bakers' bread to top-less sandwiches and open-faced pies.

The smaller bread loaf suggestion prompted Department of Agriculture officials to say that no lower price will result to consumers. They explained that the saving of ingredients per loaf will be small individually, and that the program will involve a definite reduction in the total output of bakeries.

The appeal to America to respond to "a great human cry" for salvation was issued by the famine committee last night. "The world faces a gigantic emergency of famine among 500,000,000 people due to war exhaustion of agriculture and drought," the statement said.

Three hopeful developments in the general food outlook, and one adverse one had been reported a short time earlier.

Bigger Crops

Top encouraging factor was the Agriculture Department's report that prospects continue to point to a near-record crop of winter wheat in this country, with a yield of 751,000,000 bushels indicated. The record was 759,000,000. A bumper yield is needed to restock short domestic supplies and permit exports.

The department also reported a record of 187,000,000 boxes in cit-

Materials Short For Building in Kingston Sector

Regulations and Priorities Are the Prime Reasons All Items Are Not Available

The situation regarding building materials to be had in Kingston is bad—worse than it was during the war—interviews with some of the city's leading dealers disclosed this morning. The situation was said to be general.

Prominent among the reasons given for the shortages were O.P.A. regulations and priorities, starting with the lumber producers and continuing till the finished products reach the ultimate consumer—if they do.

Strikes in the lumber camps, shortage of help and price ceilings, have lessened the supply of materials at their source, it was declared. The mills are not only affected by shortage of supplies, but have difficulties of their own with price ceilings again playing their part, and so it goes, all along the line.

Nails were mentioned as being particularly out of the picture, with some mills having closed down, due, it was stated, to the fact that they were losing money.

Shingle mills are said to be from six months to a year behind in their shipments and with few wooden shingles being made, due in some cases at least to inability to get logs.

Siding, flooring and rough lumber of all kinds are listed as among articles difficult to get, when they can be had at all. One dealer said

Ferry Will Serve in Interim

Long Fight

Local Senator Has Been After River Span for Over Four Years

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—A bill authorizing construction of a Hudson river vehicular bridge between Kingston and Rhinecliff is before the Assembly today after unanimous Senate approval.

Sponsored by Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican, the bill, passed by the Senate last night, would permit the New York State Bridge Authority to increase its limit of bonds outstanding from $3,000,000 to $8,000,000 to finance the project.

The measure would permit discontinuance of the proposed interim ferry service upon completion of the bridge.

A companion bill, also passed in the Senate and sent to the Assembly, would prohibit lifting of tolls on any bridges under the authority's jurisdiction until the bonded indebtedness of all the bridges was removed.

Ferry Stopped in 1942

When the Kingston and Rhinebeck Ferry Co., ceased operations of a ferry service between this city and Rhinecliff in 1942, agitation for the construction of a bridge was started in Kingston.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks became deeply interested in the matter and introduced a bill in the state legislature which provided for an appropriation for test borings for the proposed bridge.

While this bill passed the legislature it was later vetoed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The vetoing of the bill, however, did not lessen activities on the part of Kingston and Ulster county residents, and the newly organized Chamber of Commerce also swung into line in favor of a bridge.

Provision for Ferry

Facts and figures were assembled for presentation to the governor and the state legislature showing the need of ferry service until a bridge could be built.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks recently introduced in the senate, and Assemblyman Ernest L. Hatfield of Dutchess county, in the assembly, the bill providing for the construction of the bridge with interim ferry service.

Opposition to the bill developed in some sections of Dutchess county, especially in Poughkeepsie, but the northern end of that county was strongly in favor of

Strikes at a Glance

(By The Associated Press)

Continuing labor disputes keep idle approximately 757,000.

Major developments:

Coal—John L. Lewis, president of A.F.L. United Mine Workers, meets with union policy committee for last review of demands to be presented to bituminous coal operators in contract negotiations; more pay, shorter work week, unionization of supervisory workers and participation royalty on each ton of coal mined believed among demands.

Automotive — C.I.O. United Auto Workers union leaders continue conferences in 112-day General Motors strike, declare their unity to reach settlement; union's National Ford Council objects to certain clauses in recently approved contract with Ford Motor Co.

Railroads—Presidential fact-finding board opens hearings on wages and rules dispute between two operating brotherhoods and most of the nation's rail lines, as strike threat of 293,000 members postponed for at least 30 days.

Mining — C.I.O. mine, mill and smelter workers president says strikes against five Phelps Dodge properties to be called Monday unless 30 per cent wage increases are granted; walkouts would halt 75 per cent of nation's copper production and 55 per cent of lead production, union leader says.

Wage Judgment Is Filed by Police And City Firemen

Legal Action Is to Recover Pay Increases Not Provided For in 1946 Budget

Judgment was filed yesterday in the sum of $1,104.14 in the action brought in Supreme Court by the members of the city police and fire departments against the City of Kingston to recover increases in salary which had been authorized by the two boards but withheld from January first to February 15, when action was commenced, because no provision is made in the 1946 budget to meet the payments.

Francis Martocci, attorney for the police and fire department members, filed the judgment yesterday in accordance with the decision of Justice Schirick of the Supreme court, directing payment of the increases, following a motion for judgment on pleadings which was heard by Justice Schirick.

The amount of the judgment represents the pay which has been withheld from the first of the year to February 15. Papers were served on Corporation Counsel Arthur B. Ewig in the matter late Monday.

Increases were authorized last year to the police and fire department members and paid last year but payments were stopped the first of this year when the amount for such increases was taken from the budget when it was revised on order of the Supreme court after a taxpayers action had been brought to compel the city to keep its budget within the 2 per cent limitation as provided by law.

Employees, in order to secure this extra salary, will now file a claim against the city for payment of the increase as salaries become due. In this way the employees will be paid the extra money authorized last year but not included in this year's budget. Under the law salaries must be included in the budget but claims and judgments may be paid out of funds which are not specifically provided for in the budget. It is believed a system will be worked out between counsel for the petitioners and the corporation counsel to meet these payments of extra salary as they become due.

Agriculture Heads Are Optimistic About '46 Production

By OVID MARTIN

Washington, March 12 (AP)—The best fed nation in the world heard a plea today to cut its food consumption by 40 per cent in wheat and 20 per cent in fats to help save a half-billion famine victims overseas.

The appeal of President Truman's Famine Emergency Committee said such a mighty, volunteer effort on the part of Americans was needed for the next 120 days to tide the hungry abroad over "a terrible four months until the next harvest."

The committee offered almost two-score suggestions on how the public could cooperate in the food-conservation campaign. They ranged from a 10 per cent cut in the weight of bakers' bread to top-less sandwiches and open-faced pies.

The smaller bread loaf suggestion prompted Department of Agriculture officials to say that no lower price will result to consumers. They explained that the saving of ingredients per loaf will be small individually, and that the program will involve a definite reduction in the total output of bakeries.

The appeal to America to respond to "a great human cry" for salvation was issued by the famine committee last night. "The world faces a gigantic emergency of famine among 500,000,000 people due to war exhaustion of agriculture and drought," the statement said.

Three hopeful developments in the general food outlook, and one adverse one had been reported a short time earlier.

Bigger Crops

Top encouraging factor was the Agriculture Department's report that prospects continue to point to a near-record crop of winter wheat in this country, with a yield of 751,000,000 bushels indicated. The record was 759,000,000. A bumper yield is needed to restock short domestic supplies and permit exports.

The department also reported a record of 187,000,000 boxes in cit-

Materials Short For Building in Kingston Sector

Regulations and Priorities Are the Prime Reasons All Items Are Not Available

The situation regarding building materials to be had in Kingston is bad—worse than it was during the war—interviews with some of the city's leading dealers disclosed this morning. The situation was said to be general.

Prominent among the reasons given for the shortages were O.P.A. regulations and priorities, starting with the lumber producers and continuing till the finished products reach the ultimate consumer—if they do.

Strikes in the lumber camps, shortage of help and price ceilings, have lessened the supply of materials at their source, it was declared. The mills are not only affected by shortage of supplies, but have difficulties of their own with price ceilings again playing their part, and so it goes, all along the line.

Nails were mentioned as being particularly out of the picture, with some mills having closed down, due, it was stated, to the fact that they were losing money.

Shingle mills are said to be from six months to a year behind in their shipments and with few wooden shingles being made, due in some cases at least to inability to get logs.

Siding, flooring and rough lumber of all kinds are listed as among articles difficult to get, when they can be had at all. One dealer said

Ferry Will Serve in Interim

Long Fight

Local Senator Has Been After River Span for Over Four Years

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—A bill authorizing construction of a Hudson river vehicular bridge between Kingston and Rhinecliff is before the Assembly today after unanimous Senate approval.

Sponsored by Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Kingston Republican, the bill, passed by the Senate last night, would permit the New York State Bridge Authority to increase its limit of bonds outstanding from $3,000,000 to $8,000,000 to finance the project.

The measure would permit discontinuance of the proposed interim ferry service upon completion of the bridge.

A companion bill, also passed in the Senate and sent to the Assembly, would prohibit lifting of tolls on any bridges under the authority's jurisdiction until the bonded indebtedness of all the bridges was removed.

Ferry Stopped in 1942

When the Kingston and Rhinebeck Ferry Co., ceased operations of a ferry service between this city and Rhinecliff in 1942, agitation for the construction of a bridge was started in Kingston.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks became deeply interested in the matter and introduced a bill in the state legislature which provided for an appropriation for test borings for the proposed bridge.

While this bill passed the legislature it was later vetoed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

The vetoing of the bill, however, did not lessen activities on the part of Kingston and Ulster county residents, and the newly organized Chamber of Commerce also swung into line in favor of a bridge.

Provision for Ferry

Facts and figures were assembled for presentation to the governor and the state legislature showing the need of ferry service until a bridge could be built.

Senator Arthur H. Wicks recently introduced in the senate, and Assemblyman Ernest L. Hatfield of Dutchess county, in the assembly, the bill providing for the construction of the bridge with interim ferry service.

Opposition to the bill developed in some sections of Dutchess county, especially in Poughkeepsie, but the northern end of that county was strongly in favor of

G.O.P. Charges Democrats Take Political Stand

Hit Minority Members of Legislature for Moves on State Aid Program

By HENRY LEADER

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Democratic legislative leaders served notice today their party would "pour it on" Governor Dewey in the gubernatorial election campaign for his refusal to grant cities an extra $100,000,000 in state aid.

Republican spokesmen angrily branded the Democratic moves transparently political and said they would supply proof to the voters.

Dewey's stand against altering the Moore Commission program of per capita state assistance to localities was reflected last night in the Republican-controlled Legislature's defeat of Democratic motions to force a floor vote on the Steingut-Quinn bill.

The bill, locked up in Senate and Assembly committees, would tap the State Postwar Reconstruction Fund for the additional $100,000,000.

The Democratic plea was accented by receipt of a letter by G.O.P. legislative leaders from Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York city in which he substituted a $78,500,000 new local tax program for his previous $142,000,000 one.

A motion to discharge the Steingut-Quinn measure was beaten 84 to 56 in the Assembly. An identical motion met 33-20 defeat in the Senate.

Democrats knew in advance they would be whipped. They said so openly. But the occasion furnished them with a fresh opportunity to belabor the governor and the G.O.P. legislators for what they called a "short-changing" of the cities.

For an hour Assembly Minority Leader Irwin Steingut lambasted the majority party, repeating the same arguments he had advanced last month in a similar, futile effort to get an extra $100,000,000 for the municipalities.

Republican Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, termed it "just another attempt to capture newspaper headlines." The motion was "wholly political," he claimed, adding that "the Democrats know it. We know it. Everyone knows it."

If $100,000,000 were taken from the Postwar Reconstruction Fund, Stephens said, "I know who would suffer the most. It would be the inmates of our mental and correctional institutions already housed in overcrowded quarters and lacking proper medical and nursing care. And, in addition, the state's proposed campaign to wipe out tuberculosis in the next 20 years would be seriously retarded."

In the Senate, meanwhile, Minority Leader Elmer F. Quinn warned that "tonight won't be the last time the G.O.P. will hear about this. We will take it to the voters in November." Majority Leader Benjamin F. Feinberg remarked that "we have listened to this old song at least three times." He defended the Moore Commission plan as "very liberal" to New York and the other cities.

Indictments Made In Ration Frauds By Federal Jury

New York, March 12 (AP)—A Federal grand jury today indicted seven corporations and 245 individuals on charges of a series of conspiracies resulting in the overdrawing of ration check accounts by 75,000,000 red points and sugar ration accounts by 6,000,000 pounds.

Federal authorities said the number of defendants was the largest ever named together in the southern district of New York and possibly established a record for the country.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey said the conspiracies enabled the defendants to maintain a tight hold on illegal trade channels between March 15, 1945, and V-J Day.

He said the defendants sold ration checks to wholesale distributors and others and that this cost the consuming public millions of dollars in over-ceiling charges.

In addition to counterfeit ration stamps, Mc Gohey said, the defendants used tinted paper and cut-up telephone books, enclosed in envelopes, to bolster their ration check accounts in several Manhattan banks, then sold forged ration checks to the highest bidder.

He said the false checks were returned from points as far away as Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin and operations of the group were conducted in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and New York state.

Candy manufacturers, illicit still operators, ice cream makers and bakers purchased the fake checks at high prices in their efforts to evade provisions of rationing regulations, Mc Gohey added.

Believes Senate Will Pass Case Bill Substitute

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Chairman Murray (D-Mont.) predicted today that both the Senate Labor Committee and the Senate as a whole would approve "without major changes" a greatly modified substitute for the Case Bill.

"This is the Senate Labor Committee's idea of what is needed to attain industrial peace," Murray told reporters, outlining details of a substitute for the labor disputes legislation sponsored by Rep. Case (R-S.D.) and passed by the House over opposition of administration leaders.

The Senate measure, drafted by a seven-member group led by Murray, recommends establishment of a new, independent, five-member federal mediation board to which would be transferred conciliation and mediation powers of the labor department.

Murray said the "drastic" provisions of the House legislation had been eliminated by the Senate group because "nothing can be gained by attempts to penalize or strait-jacket labor."

Murray said the proposed measure set up no top authority which could end a strike or a walkout in the event all mediation, conciliation or arbitration measures failed.

"But we have learned," he explained, "that in this country we cannot compel labor to accept wages or working conditions it believes unfair. Sooner or later both parties to a dispute will realize that both are suffering by the work stoppage."

He said that there had been "no new power set up to handle worker-management disagreements but a new system."

Murray said he believed the long General Motors-C.I.O. Auto Workers strike is unsettled because the "parties are not in the proper spirit to negotiate."

The labor chairman said Senators Ball (R.-Minn.) and Ellender (D.-La.) probably would seek to amend the Senate measure by three provisions rejected by the drafting group:

A prohibition against "secondary boycotts" which was in the House bill;

Special "fact-finding boards" with "cooling-off periods" before strikes in disputes involving utilities;

Financial and Commercial

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, March 12 (AP)—Buyers and sellers of stocks generally were unable to get together today and the result was a notably indecisive market performance.

Dealings were among the slowest of the past several months after a fairly active opening. Declines and advances of fractions to a point or so were visible in most departments near the fourth hour. Neither weakness nor strength was apparent anywhere.

Brokers attribute the listless shift more to what they called "lack of interest" than to any outright bearishness. Favorable news for individual issues was virtually ignored. Numerous customers still held aloof to await foreign developments and strike negotiations on the home front.

Modestly improved at one time or another were Paramount Pictures, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Pepsi-Cola, Atlantic Coast Line, Chrysler, Hudson Motors, Graham-Paige, North American, Kennecott, Texas Co., and American Water Works. Intermittent stumblers included Santa Fe, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Caterpillar Tractor, General Electric and Philip Morris.

Bonds and commodities were narrowly irregular.

Bills Proposed at Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to make the soldier vote law permanent has received unanimous legislative approval.

The measure,, if passed by next year's Legislature, will be submitted to the people in a referendum. Previously supported by the Assembly, a resolution proposing the amendment won complete Senate endorsement last night.

Replacing an emergency act, the amendment would provide for registration and voting by military personnel and their families when overseas during war or peace.

The Legislature, meanwhile, acted on a number of bills including measures on low cost housing, high school diplomas and loans for veterans, parking meters, and law enforcement.

On Low Rent Housing

In the Senate unanimous approval was given a Governor Dewey program bill authorizing the state to lend $80,000,000 to localities for low-rent housing. The amount remains from a $300,000,000 loan fund voted by the people in a constitutional amendment six years ago. The measure went to the Assembly.

A bill to permit the sheriff of one county to summon assistance from sheriffs of other counties was passed, 79 to 64, in the Assembly over the opposition of Democrats and several Republicans. The bill was sent to the Senate.

With Assemblyman Wheeler Milmoe, R, Canastota, dissenting, the Assembly passed, 145 to 1, and sent to the Senate a bill to grant high school diplomas to World War 2 veterans if they were in their senior year when called into service. The bill is similar to one vetoed last year by Governor Dewey.

Passed in the Assembly, 131-14, a bill to permit installation of parking meters in New York city was sent to the governor. It previously had been approved in the Senate.

The Assembly unanimously passed and sent to the upper house two bills which would:

Allow state banking organizations to make G.I. loans on the same basis now permitted national banks under the federal readjustment act.

Provide that vehicles overtaking or meeting a stopped school bus must also halt and not proceed until the bus goes ahead or until signalled by the bus driver.

The Colonial Canteen on Crown street was opened in September at the request of a number of high school students, who desired a place to meet. The project was to be managed and financed by the youth of the city. A program of interest groups was adopted recently and featured a vocational guidance night at which an average of 30 young people attended. There are 175 paid members in the Canteen and 105 partially paid members.

The project was sponsored by a group of some of the leading men and women of the city. The board of directors includes Mrs. Frederick Stang, president; Clarence L. Officers of the student members are Watson Goodrich, president; Miss Sheila Larkin, vice president; Miss Gloria Levine, secretary and Edward Ward, treasurer.

The canteen was the first of its kind for youth in any city in the mid-Hudson valley. The Blue Anchor at Hudson was opened following the local center's opening last fall and representatives from Poughkeepsie were keenly interested in the Kingston Center. It was used as a model for The Tepee at Arlington.

But the ruling made "chief" warrant officers of the navy, coast guard and marines subject to income tax on service-pay above $1,500, just as commissioned officers are. Other warrant officers of these three branches were given the enlisted men's exemption.

Man's Body Found Floating in River

Corpse Is Discovered in Waters Near Port Ewen Monday

Monday afternoon while LeRo Sleight was working about his camp on the River road below Port Ewen he observed the body of a man floating in the Hudson river near shore. He notified Sheriff George Smith and County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburgh, Under Sheriff Stanle Winne and Deputy Sheriff Theron Townsend went to the scene along with Sergeant Arthur Reilly of the State Police.

The body was taken ashore and Coroner Ernest Kelly notified. From the appearance of the body it was that of a man about 6 years old, five feet, six inches in height and apparently had been in the water a long time. The clothing indicated the man probably had been drowned during warm weather since he wore no underclothing and his pin stripe coat was light. He wore a blue shirt, black high shoes and dark trousers.

Only identification marks on the body was a social security card bearing the name of Charles Karius. An effort is being made today to ascertain the address of the man and a teletype was sent out in an effort to locate relatives.

The body was taken in charge by Coroner Kelly and later was removed to the receiving vault at Port Ewen cemetery.

Cold Reception

Philadelphia, March 12 (AP) — Marx L. Price, a butcher, literally put a housebreaker on ice until the police arrived. The man ran from Price's living quarters and attempted to hide in the butcher shop's refrigerator. Price bolted the door.

That Did It

Kansas City, March 12 (AP) — Floyd Harvey, deputy collector of Internal Revenue, tried to explain to a taxpayer that money paid to a veterinarian for care of the man's dog was not deductible from his federal income tax.

The taxpayer insisted the dog belonged to his family, was dependent on the family, and that its medical expenses should be deducted.

"Well, I'll put it this way," Harvey sighed. "Just how is the dog related to you? Is it by blood, marriage, or adoption?"

That ended the discussion.

Auto Production Moves Up As Ford Assembly Lines Open

By DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, March 12 (AP)—With the reopening yesterday of several of the Ford Motor Company's assembly lines this week's production of 1946 model passenger automobiles will move up again toward the 30,000 unit level.

The industry's normal peacetime output is around 100,000 cars weekly.

Returning to production yesterday were Ford assembly lines at nearby Dearborn, Louisville, Ky., and Buffalo, N. Y. Other Ford plants at Edgewater, N. J., St. Paul, Minn., and Chester, Pa., are scheduled to reopen today and those at Somerville, Mass., Kansas City, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., and Chicago on Wednesday.

When the Ford assembly lines were halted several weeks ago because of the steel strike their aggregate assemblies were in excess of 15,000 units weekly. With no further interruptions they probably will get back to that volume within the next three weeks.

Normal Ford output is between 25,000 and 30,000 units weekly.

Currently in production besides the Ford, Mercury and Lincoln lines are Chrysler's Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler divisions; Studebaker, Hudson, Nash and Willys-Overland, the latter on peacetime "jeep" assemblies.

Closed are General Motors' Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac divisions, strike-bound since last November 21, and the Packard Motor Car Co.

Packard closed its assembly lines on January 24 because of a shortage of crankshaft and connecting rod bearings obtained from a General Motors subsidiary. It does not expect to reopen for at least three weeks after the G.M. plants return to production.

Since starting production of the 1946 models the industry has turned out about 220,000 passenger units. Of the total, Ford has made 92,000; Chrysler divisions about 50,000 and General Motors plants about 25,000 units. No G.M. vehicles have been assembled since the strike began. Packard had completed approximately 4,000 of its clipper models when its assembly lines were shut down six weeks ago.

The industry now is about 1,000,000 units behind the schedule it laid out last October. With an easing of labor and supply problems it may produce 3,000,000 passenger units this year instead of the 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 some optimistic industry sources predicted six months ago.

Barnes led a flower quiz in which the audience tried to complete the names of flowers by filling in missing letters. Mrs. Frank Elliott was the winner. Mrs. Harold DuBois and Douglas Alverson joined in singing some old favorites as Mrs. Ralph Buchanan accompanied at the piano. The host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. V. T. Pine. A social hour followed with refreshments.

FAIR PLAY OUR POLICY ON NEW CAR DELIVERIES!

IN COOPERATION with the Ford Motor Company, we are making every effort to give earliest possible delivery of new cars to our patrons, according to the fairest method we have been able to devise. ● ● During the current shortage, when there are not enough new cars for all who want them, we are filling orders for new cars on the basis of first come first served. There are two important exceptions to this rule:

1. We are definitely reserving a substantial percentage of our cars to supply those who have served in the armed forces. This we feel is simple justice and conforms with public interest and fair play.

2. If emergency need for a new car is a factor, as in the case of doctors and nurses, we will, in the public interest determine priority according to the now abolished but publicly accepted OPA priority lists.

● ● We believe these delivery policies are in your interest. We will use every care to see that the procedure works fairly and that exceptions to the rule of first orders delivered first are made only in genuinely deserving cases.

● ● Both in the matter of increasing production and speeding delivery, the Ford Motor Company and we ourselves are making every effort to get your new car in your hands promptly and fairly. We want to assure you that the '46 Ford is out in front in everything and is well worth waiting for.

G.O.P. Charges Democrats Take Political Stand

By HENRY LEADER

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Democratic legislative leaders served notice today their party would "pass it on" Governor Dewey in the gubernatorial election campaign for his refusal to grant cities an extra $100,000,000 in state aid.

Republican spokesmen angrily branded the Democratic moves transparently political and said they would supply proof to the voters.

Dewey's stand against altering the Moore Commission program of per capita state assistance to localities was reflected last night in the Republican-controlled Legislature's defeat of Democratic motions to force a floor vote on the Steingut-Quinn bill.

The bill, locked up in Senate and Assembly committees, would tap the State Postwar Reconstruction Fund for the additional $100,000,000.

The Democratic plea was accented by receipt of a letter by G.O.P. legislative leaders from Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York city in which he substituted a $78,500,000 new local tax program for his previous $142,000,000 one.

A motion to discharge the Steingut-Quinn measure was beaten 84 to 56 in the Assembly. An identical motion met 33-20 defeat in the Senate.

Democrats knew in advance they would be whipped. They said so openly. But the occasion furnished them with a fresh opportunity to belabor the governor and the G.O.P. legislators for what they called a "short-changing" of the cities.

For an hour Assembly Minority Leader Irwin Steingut lambasted the majority party, repeating the same arguments he had advanced last month in a similar, futile effort to get an extra $100,000,000 for the municipalities.

Republican Assemblyman D. Mallory Stephens, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, termed it "just another attempt to capture newspaper headlines." The motion was "wholly political," he claimed, adding that "the Democrats know it. We know it. Everyone knows it."

If $100,000,000 were taken from the Postwar Reconstruction Fund, Stephens said, "I know who would suffer the most. It would be the inmates of our mental and correctional institutions already housed in overcrowded quarters and lacking proper medical and nursing care. And, in addition, the state's proposed campaign to wipe out tuberculosis in the next 20 years would be seriously retarded."

In the Senate, meanwhile, Minority Leader Elmer F. Quinn warned that "tonight won't be the last time the G.O.P. will hear about this. We will take it to the voters in November." Majority Leader Benjamin F. Feinberg remarked that "we have listened to this old song at least three times." He defended the Moore Commission plan as "very liberal" to New York and the other cities.

Fords by Tuesday

Edgewater, N. J., March 12 (AP)—C. J. Seyffer, eastern regional manager for the Ford Motor Company, announced today that automobiles would be rolling off the assembly line at the plant here by next Tuesday morning. The plant, which reopened today, was closed on February 4 as a result of steel shortages following the nationwide steelworkers' walkout.

Indictments Made In Ration Frauds By Federal Jury

New York, March 12 (AP)—A Federal grand jury today indicted seven corporations and 245 individuals on charges of a series of conspiracies resulting in the overdrawing of ration check accounts by 75,000,000 red points and sugar ration accounts by 6,000,000 pounds.

Federal authorities said the number of defendants was the largest ever named together in the southern district of New York and possibly established a record for the country.

U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey said the conspiracies enabled the defendants to maintain a tight hold on illegal trade channels between March 15, 1945, and V-J Day.

He said the defendants sold ration checks to wholesale distributors and others and that this cost the consuming public millions of dollars in over-ceiling charges.

In addition to counterfeit ration stamps, Mc Gohey said, the defendants used tinted paper and cut-up telephone books, enclosed in envelopes, to bolster their ration check accounts in several Manhattan banks, then sold forged ration checks to the highest bidder.

He said the false checks were returned from points as far away as Ohio, Illinois and Wisconsin and operations of the group were conducted in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and New York state.

Candy manufacturers, illicit still operators, ice cream makers and bakers purchased the fake checks at high prices in their efforts to evade provisions of rationing regulations, Mc Gohey added.

Believes Senate Will Pass Case Bill Substitute

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Chairman Murray (D-Mont.) predicted today that both the Senate Labor Committee and the Senate as a whole would approve "without major changes" a greatly modified substitute for the Case Bill.

"This is the Senate Labor Committee's idea of what is needed to attain industrial peace," Murray told reporters, outlining details of a substitute for the labor disputes legislation sponsored by Rep. Case (R-S.D.) and passed by the House over opposition of administration leaders.

The Senate measure, drafted by a seven-member group led by Murray, recommends establishment of a new, independent, five-member federal mediation board to which would be transferred conciliation and mediation powers of the labor department.

Murray said the "drastic" provisions of the House legislation had been eliminated by the Senate group because "nothing can be gained by attempts to penalize or strait-jacket labor."

Murray said the proposed measure set up no top authority which could end a strike or a walkout in the event all mediation, conciliation or arbitration measures failed.

"But we have learned," he explained, "that in this country we cannot compel labor to accept wages or working conditions it believes unfair. Sooner or later both parties to a dispute will realize that both are suffering by the work stoppage."

He said that there had been "no new power set up to handle worker-management disagreements but a new system."

Murray said he believed the long General Motors-C.I.O. Auto Workers strike is unsettled because the "parties are not in the proper spirit to negotiate."

The labor chairman said Senators Ball (R.-Minn.) and Ellender (D.-La.) probably would seek to amend the Senate measure by three provisions rejected by the drafting group:

A prohibition against "secondary boycotts" which was in the House bill;

Page Barleycorn!

Harrisburg, Pa., March 12 (AP)—The Prohibition Party, polling enough votes in the 1945 general election to win standing as a party, today slated James A. W. Killip, of Philadelphia, as its candidate for governor in the May 21 primary. The Prohibitionists became the first minor party group in more than a decade to earn the right to select its nominees at the primary election.

"Dead" Brought Back

Russian scientists — whose experiments are notably unpublished — claim to have discovered that a person who looks very dead, even to a doctor, may still live. Reporting in Moscow on wartime experiments, they said that out of one batch of 51 men who had been pronounced dead by the Army doctors and surgeons, 12 were restored to complete life, others revived for varying lengths of time and only two remained "dead."

Financial and Commercial

By VICTOR EUBANK

New York, March 12 (AP)—Buyers and sellers of stocks generally were unable to get together today and the result was a notably indecisive market performance.

Dealings were among the slowest of the past several months after a fairly active opening. Declines and advances of fractions to a point or so were visible in most departments near the fourth hour. Neither weakness nor strength was apparent anywhere.

Brokers attribute the listless shift more to what they called "lack of interest" than to any outright bearishness. Favorable news for individual issues was virtually ignored. Numerous customers still held aloof to await foreign developments and strike negotiations on the home front.

Bonds and commodities were narrowly irregular.

Wladyslaw Anders, commander of exiled Polish armed forces in Italy, was reported to have started talks here with British officials on the future disposition of Poland's exiled Army, Navy and Air Force. Bills Proposed at Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to make the soldier vote law permanent has received unanimous legislative approval.

The measure, if passed by next year's Legislature, will be submitted to the people in a referendum. Previously supported by the Assembly, a resolution proposing the amendment won complete Senate endorsement last night.

Replacing an emergency act, the amendment would provide for registration and voting by military personnel and their families when overseas during war or peace.

The Legislature, meanwhile, acted on a number of bills including measures on low cost housing, high school diplomas and loans for veterans, parking meters, and law enforcement.

On Low Rent Housing

In the Senate unanimous approval was given a Governor Dewey program bill authorizing the state to lend $80,000,000 to localities for low-rent housing. The amount remains from a $300,000,000 loan fund voted by the people in a constitutional amendment six years ago. The measure went to the Assembly.

A bill to permit the sheriff of one county to summon assistance from sheriffs of other counties was passed, 79 to 64, in the Assembly over the opposition of Democrats and several Republicans. The bill was sent to the Senate.

With Assemblyman Wheeler Milmoe, R. Canastota, dissenting, the Assembly passed, 145 to 1, and sent to the Senate a bill to grant high school diplomas to World War 2 veterans if they were in their senior year when called into service. The bill is similar to one vetoed last year by Governor Dewey.

Passed in the Assembly, 131-14, a bill to permit installation of parking meters in New York city was sent to the governor. It previously had been approved in the Senate.

The Assembly unanimously passed and sent to the upper house two bills which would:

Allow state banking organizations to make G.I. loans on the same basis now permitted national banks under the federal readjustment act.

Provide that vehicles overtaking or meeting a stopped school bus must also halt and not proceed until the bus goes ahead or until signalled by the bus driver.

tinued, "I am vitally interested in the youth of the city and would be glad to confer with them concerning the possibility of using my present office building which is located directly across from the high school." He also said he had received several telephone calls from prominent citizens regarding the future of the canteen.

The Colonial Canteen on Crown street was opened in September at the request of a number of high school students, who desired a place to meet. The project was to be managed and financed by the youth of the city. A program of interest groups was adopted recently and featured a vocational guidance night at which an average of 30 young people attended. There are 175 paid members in the Canteen and 105 partially paid members.

Dean Dykstra, Thomas Plunkett and Mrs. Alfred Ronder. Officers of the student members are Watson Goodrich, president; Miss Sheila Larkin, vice president; Miss Gloria Levine, secretary and Edward Ward, treasurer.

The canteen was the first of its kind for youth in any city in the mid-Hudson valley. Man's Body Found Floating in River

Corpse Is Discovered in Waters Near Port Ewen Monday

Monday afternoon while LeRoy Sleight was working about his camp on the River road below Port Ewen he observed the body of a man floating in the Hudson river near shore. He notified Sheriff George Smith and County Investigator Clayton W. Vredenburgh, Under Sheriff Stanley Winne and Deputy Sheriff Theron Townsend went to the scene along with Sergeant Arthur Reilly of the State Police.

The body was taken ashore and Coroner Ernest Kelly notified. From the appearance of the body it was that of a man about 60 years old, five feet, six inches in height and apparently had been in the water a long time. The clothing indicated the man probably had been drowned during warm weather since he wore no underclothing and his pin stripe coat was light. He wore a blue shirt, black high shoes and dark trousers.

Only identification marks on the body was a social security card bearing the name of Charles Karius. An effort is being made today to ascertain the address of the man and a teletype was sent out in an effort to locate relatives.

The body was taken in charge by Coroner Kelly and later was removed to the receiving vault at Port Ewen cemetery.

PARKING ACCOMMODATIONS

Parking space for automobiles in the John street parking grounds will be continued under different management. The grounds, which for many years were under the jurisdiction of the Uptown Business Men's Association, will be operated now by the county.

The county owns the property and the parking grounds are a great convenience to the people of the county and the city. The change was made at the suggestion of the Business Men's Association. The grounds will remain a free parking space for the public and will be under the direction of the county superintendent of highways.

There is great demand for parking space in this section and without these parking grounds the problem of parking cars there would be serious.

With more favorable weather conditions for automobile travel, there will be an increased demand for parking accommodations. Now is the time to plan for the day when the cars really begin coming to town.

Adequate parking space is a necessity today if we desire to have people come to our community to do business.

It is the same with housing and factory floor space. We cannot expect people to come here if we do not have sufficient shelter for them and we can't expect to have new factories locate here if we can't accommodate them.

A drive to preserve old cars as historic records is urged by the Automobile Old Timers, a New York organization. Our old car is needed for transportation.

SNAGS IN HOUSING

Building material men, construction and real estate leaders, while endorsing President Truman's plan for wholesale home building, oppose certain provisions, notably price controls and government subsidies, as announced by the new Housing Administrator, Wilson W. Wyatt. One of his recommendations, ceilings on sales price of existing homes, already has been defeated by recent House vote, despite support by Representative Patman of Texas, father of this legislation.

Wyatt's plan, aiming at production of 2,700,000 dwelling units this year and next, calls for governmental subsidies of $600,000,000 for materials; mortgage allowances up to 90 per cent of values; $6,000 ceiling, except in certain localities, on priority homes; channelling of practically all building into small homes. The National Association of Home Builders at its Chicago convention approved extensive home building, but urged lifting of price controls as soon as possible. Another national group of builders, a fact-finding committee of the industry, labelled the Wyatt program "planned economy experimentation," and says it is holding up housing.

Despite these widespread fundamental differences about the need for government controls and aid, everyone is agreed millions of low-cost durable homes should be built, and without delay. Congress and the builders will have to get out of each other's way and come to terms. President Truman sums up the nation's sentiment: "It is not a political but an American issue primarily affecting families of veterans who must be enabled to move from shacks and trailers into homes they can afford, for which they fought, for whose defense they risked their lives."

LOOKING FORWARD

"Balancing the budget" is an old and doubtless wearisome theme, but it has to be done sooner or later if the United States government is to maintain its solvency. A recent statement made by 16 serious-minded members of Congress brings out the interesting fact that the national budget was actually in balance, with a little to spare, in a short period of the fiscal year 1937. And that there seems to be a possibility of a similar break lately, suggested by the surprising fact that national revenues surpassed expenditures in the month of February, just past. A financial expert observes:

"While for perfectly obvious reasons we are not nearly so well off as we were when for a short while treasury income exceeded outgo a decade ago, it is possible again to look forward to a balanced budget and to all its favorable implications."

All of which is good indeed, for a nation that has passed through Uncle Sam's experience in these last few years. It is another example of the old warning, never to be "bearish" on the U.S.A.

'These Days'

ADVICE TO BUSINESS MEN

If a business man has a scheme and wants $5,000,000—more or less—my solemn advice to him is to get next to somebody who knows somebody in Washington who has an in. Now, I do not know Nick Bez. He may be a good man, a kind father, a loving husband, a patriotic citizen. My first contact with his name was a picture in "Life" of July 9, 1945. In a row-boat are five gentlemen. One stands, waving a hat in his right hand; in his left is a king salmon which the caption says "he did not catch." He wears a very gay and fancy sweater. His face is wreathed in a smile. His bow-tie is sartorially perfect. His name is Harry Truman.

Beside him sits Governor Wallgren of Washington. Rowing is Nick Bez. The others are not identified.

I was attracted by the name Bez. I had never seen it before. So I inquired who is Bez? Somebody told me he was associated with the United Committee of South Slavic Americans, which is a Tito propaganda outfit. He must be something more than that, said I to myself, to be rowing the President of the United States in the company of the governor of Washington.

Then I found that Nick Bez had been set up by the American government in a special fishing business to the tune of $3,750,000—a floating cannery and factory ship and five trawlers being conditioned and constructed for him. The recommendation so to do was made by Marvin Jones of the Defense Plant Corporation on March 26, 1945, which perhaps is why the aforesaid Nick Bez is so full of smiles as he rows in June the President who holds a dead fish in his left hand.

Now before me lief a report of the United States Department of the Interior, Fish and Wild Life Service—all managed at that time by Harold Ickes, now resigned and relegated to writing a column. In spite of the fact that on August 31, 1945, J. B. Hutson, acting secretary of agriculture, advised the R.F.C. that Nick Bez's project was no longer essential and that his department was unable to reaffirm its former recommendation, Brother Ickes's bulletin, "Fishery Products Report Number—274 (continued)" says of Nick Bez's project: "Sponsored by the War Food Administration, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation agreed to finance the establishment of an American-operated fishing enterprise in the Pacific as a measure to assist in the prosecution of the war effort. The completion of the project was assured December 21, when the Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced that the undertaking would be continued."

Note: This circular was issued on December 26, 1945; V.-J. Day was September 2, 1945. How come, Mr. Ickes was still assisting "in the prosecution of the war effort?"

The total project is described as follows in Harold Ickes's circular:

". . . The steel cargo ocean-going vessel, the 'S.S. Mormacray,' obtained from the War Shipping Administration, for several months has been in process of conversion into a factory ship for the freezing, processing and canning of fish, and it is estimated that the conversion work will be completed early next year. This vessel is 8,368 deadweight tons, 5,946 gross register tons, and 3,744 net register tons and is now in the yards of Bellingham Iron Works, Bellingham, Wash., where it is being equipped and converted into a factory ship. . . . It is contemplated that four steel-constructed trawlers of approximately 165 tons each, all Diesel-powered, will either be built or otherwise acquired to be used in catching and conveying fish to the factory ship."

Now here is a project that concerns the Department of Agriculture, the State Department, the Department of the Interior, the R.F.C., the War Food Administration, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and they all get moving fast on it. It is a bit puzzling and I should like to know who this Nick Bex is that he can get all these great men hopping around to serve his purposes, particularly after the Department of Agriculture said that his scheme had no value as there would be enough protein around. Some guy!

BLEEDING PEPTIC ULCER

I have written recently about amino acids and how they were flown to Germany to restore the starving allied prisoners of war. I also pointed out that it is the proteins in certain foods such as meats and cheese that makes them such valuable foods for starving, worn out, anemic individuals. These amino acids give nourishment rapidly and so strengthen the patient that he is soon up and about instead of having to remain in bed and rest for a long time.

The most common disease in the armed forces and in the civilian population also during the war, is ulcer of the stomach and small intestine (peptic ulcer) believed caused by nervousness, anxiety and other emotional disturbances. These patients are kept on a strict diet which helps heal the ulcer but the patient is weak and has thin blood during and for some time after treatment is given. It can thus be seen that a patient whose ulcer breaks down and bleeds will lose a lot of blood, and is greatly weakened. It is most encouraging to learn then that our research workers are making use of these wonderful amino acids in the treatment of bleeding peptic ulcer.

In Gastroenterology, Baltimore, Dr. J. S. Levy reports that eleven patients with severe bleeding from peptic ulcer were treated with the usual Sippy diet for ulcer to which was added a daily dose of from 100 to 200 grains of a mixture of amino acids given by mouth. The amount of protein in the serum or liquid part of the blood returned to normal in about ten days. In a control group of 6 patients who were given the Sippy diet without any amino acids, the serum returned to normal on an average of about 19 days; that is about twice as long as where amino acids were used.

Dr. Levy stresses that the use of amino acids taken by mouth in cases of peptic ulcer with severe bleeding has many advantages. The amino acids act as a buffer combining with acid thus acting as an antacid; it spares digestive activity in intestine and helps to build up protein in the blood which has lost so much protein from the bleeding of ulcer.

NEW VEGETABLE WINNER "LONGREEN" SNAPBEAN
"TENDERGREEN" PREVIOUS ALL-AMERICA SELECTION
PODS ARE INCH LONGER THAN-

A Newcomer for Post-War Vegetable Gardens

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

FORECASTS of food shortages emphasize the need of post-war vegetable gardens. Therefore, in laying out this year's flower beds, save a little space for a "food garden" and contine to "grow your own."

There is only one new vegetable for 1946 gardens, but it is a champion All-American selection, a new snapbean called "Longreen."

This newcomer is brand new. Seeds are not yet in large quantities, as are other standard varieties, for war conditions kept growers from raising enough for all expected demands. Order early from your seedsman if you hope to enjoy this new bean.

Longreen snapbean, illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, is best compared with Tendergreen, a previous All-America selection, also illustrated.

The pods of Longreen, round, stringless and fiberless and of finest quality are an inch longer than Tendergreen. The plants are also heavier producers. The fact that Longreen is an improvement over what was the most popular and largest planted bean in America is a horticultural achievement.

It begins to bear in about 56 days after planting and continues to provide heavy picking for some time to come if planted in good rich soil. The pods measure seven inches in length, are fleshy and straight.

Longreen has been thoroughly tried, along with 40 other proposed 1946 variety entries, by the 17 official All-America vegetable judges in each of their trial grounds over North America. It demonstrated its superiority in all sections where snapbeans are successfully grown: north, south, east and west.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Monday, May 17, 1926, was a gala day in the city, marking the opening of the newly completed Governor Clinton Hotel to the public. The event was marked with a parade that formed on Broadway, at Andrew street, and marched to the hotel where exercises were held.

Roy Sutliff was grand marshal of the parade, and the music was furnished for the marchers by the Citizens' Band of this city.

At the exercises at the hotel Frank R. Powley, who served as treasurer of the funds raised in the campaign to construct the hotel, told of the dream of some of the citizens that had resulted in adding a new and modern hotel to the life of the city.

Max L. Reben, president of the Chamber of Commerce, also spoke briefly, of the steps that had been taken before the hotel was actually built.

George H. Wartman served as the first manager of the new hotel.

The first formal dinner served in the hotel was the evening of the exercises when the board of directors met and dined, and congratulated each other and the public.

Money to build the hotel was raised in a whirlwind campaign in which many of the most prominent men of the city participated.

Judge Alton B. Parker, Ulster county's most distinguished citizen, died of a heart attack while being driven through Central Park in New York city in his automobile, en route to his home, Rosemont, at Esopus, on May 10, 1926, aged 74 years.

Judge Parker became nationally known when he was the Democratic candidate for president in 1904, but was defeated at the polls by President Theodore Roosevelt.

From 1873, when he was elected clerk of the Ulster county Board of Supervisors, until 1898, Judge Parker was a resident of this city, and was active in the civic and social life of Kingston.

He first made his home on Green street, and later in the house at Pearl street and Clinton avenue, which now houses the mortuary home of A. Carr & Sons.

In 1898 he erected a magnificent home at Esopus which was named Rosemont.

Dr. Walter Hasbrouck died on May 14, 1926 in this city after a brief illness. He had practiced medicine in Kingston for many years, and for a long period of time was city physician for the western department of the city when the city's needy were taken care of by the alms board, which later became the charity board.

Fraternally Dr. Hasbrouck was a member of the Rondout Lodge of Masons.

Crawford R. Styles, for years a well known uptown business man, died on May 16, 1926, in his home on Franklin street.

For 26 years he was a member of the firm of A. A. and C. R. Styles, who conducted a large bakery and grocery business on Wall street, at Main street.

Goose Keeps Its Lives

Goose with a charmed life still flourishes at Castlemorris, England, on the Parkynolau Farm of T. O. Morris. First the goose escaped slaughter for the table, the fate which befell most of the flock. Then, when Morris brought his livestock indoors for the night, he missed the goose and gave it up for lost. Next day he found the bird in the middle of the pond, frozen in and covered with ice. It quickly recovered in front of a fire.

Would Be Well for Russians to Recall That U. S. Materials And Men Helped Keep Nazi Regime Out of Moscow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 12 — Most important in the development of relations between Russia and the outside world is the bitter denunciation of former Prime Minister Churchill by the official Moscow newspaper "Pravda."

Although the text of the Churchill address of Fulton, Missouri, was not printed or broadcast in Russia, it was apparently read very minutely by the official group. The fact that the Russians used "Pravda" to answer and that the article was couched, according to a Moscow dispatch, in "bitter, vigorous language such as is seldom used in that paper" and more in line with pre-war castigations of Churchill as a "hardened reactionary, war monger and hypocrite" will awaken Americans to an awareness of a strange phenomenon. It is that the Russians completely misunderstood freedom of speech and think that the best way to conduct a pursuasive debate is to call the other fellow bad names.

If the Russian propagandists are trying to right themselves with world opinion, they have chosen the wrong way to accomplish it. One certain way to make friends for the Churchill viewpoint is to attack the motives of the man who led Britain through a victorious war. The world will not soon cast away the views of a former prime minister of Britain as being aimed solely at bringing on another conflict.

It is also regrettable that the Moscow organ of the Soviet government—its official newspaper—should be denouncing Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan as making "false speeches on Democracy."

Friends of Russia will be alienated by such tactics. Russia has many more friends in the United States than she evidently knows about, but she can lose them rapidly if she assumes that the American people cannot see through the accusations of official propaganda or the red herrings which are periodically dragged across the trails of world diplomacy, such as appear in the Russian note about Bulgaria.

Russia is wasting valuable time that she could be using to forge a real friendship with the American people. Misguided advisers are apparently telling her that she can divide the American people by bitter denunciations of those who choose to speak their views frankly.

There can be no doubt that Americans recognize the weaknesses of British imperialism as well as do the Russians. There can be no doubt also that a substantial segment of American opinion is flexible on the subject of removing the "spheres of influence" in Europe, whether they be British or Russian. Yet the wrong way to solve the problems created by these spheres or to achieve true "democracy," which term the Russian organs of opinion use so loosely, is not to call everybody who disagrees with Russia a Fascist or a war monger or an enemy of Moscow.

If the Soviet is bent on ignoring the facts of international life, notwithstanding the genuine efforts of peaceloving statesmen in other countries, if Moscow persists in arguing that everything Russia wants is hers and every agreement must be interpreted as she construes it, then what Former Prime Minister Churchill begged for may come sooner than the Russians realize. For if the American government finds the Russian tactics inscrutable and there is no genuine interchange of views or substantial progress toward making the United Nations Organization successful, it will not be long before the world will be discussing bigger armaments and the time or place for the outbreak of a third World War.

What is particularly disheartening is that the Russian diplomats and propagandists can so soon forget that the United States sent four million men to open a "second front" to save Russia from the Nazi armies. If the United States had stayed neutral, there would be no Soviet in existence today, but a Nazi regime in Moscow. All that is asked is that the Russians temper their denunciation of Mr. Churchill, and others who served the Allied cause, with a bit of gratitude for the thousands of Americans and British who died to beat Germany—from the fruits of which victory the Moscow government has profited and benefited so extensively.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP) World Traveler

Bern, Switzerland, March 12—Europe's greatest non-political problem continues to be food, but little Switzerland, which depends heavily on imports, has averted a national catastrophy by her manner of handling it.

I refer to food as the biggest non-political problem because the world in general gives first place to the question of whether there will be another war.

If there is one—which your columnist refuses to anticipate—it will be political and likely will grow out of the present dangerous revamping of the balance of power.

Whether death by military violence is of more concern than death by starvation may be open to debate. In any event, let's talk about food, because the way Switzerland has dealt with—and is dealing with—this vital subject is a revelation of her character, and an object lesson to a world.

Swiss Foresight

Our story starts back before the war, and that's important because it bespeaks foresight on the part of the Swiss. After the Munich conference in 1938 the government, realizing that Europe faced a crisis, began to help food importers with loans at small interest in order to buy great food supplies.

Then in May, 1939, months before the war started, each housewife was ordered to buy two months stock of food—and the government helped those short of money. This supply was held in reserve. When the conflict began the government froze completely for two months the sale of non-perishable foodstuffs and in that period organized the food rationing which still continues, with everybody happy. Without these precautions, of course, starvation would have swept the country because it isn't self-supporting.

Designates Private

When Hitler struck at Poland on September 1, 1939, the Swiss army was mobilized for defense. There was in the ranks a private by the name of Arnold Muggli, and the Minister of Economics promptly summoned him to Bern. To Muggli's amazement the Minister said:

"You're the only one capable of organizing rationing. I want you to undertake it."

Not to make too much of a mystery of the Muggli drama, he had been an organizer of banks. Rationing was an unknown quantity to him but he tackled it, and, finding no guidance in any foreign rationing plan, he created one of his own on the high moral code that "if everybody cares enough and everybody shares enough, everybody will have enough."

Called for Self-Discipline

This called for national self-discipline and responsibility on the part of every person in the country, especially the women folk. It not only pulled Switzerland through the war but its the one under which Mrs. Mack and I are getting our food now—and excellent provender it is, too. Every family always has its share.

Muggli inaugurated personal contact with the people, and he not only used the radio and public conferences but set up a committee of women to advise him on household problems. He discussed all matters with the whole country. When his office made a mistake he promptly admitted it and made a fresh start. As a result he soon became one of the most popular figures in Switzerland — and that's something for a rationing chief.

Meantime food production has been increased from enough to feed 2,000,000—or half the population—to enough for 3,500,000. And there has been virtually no black market in food.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

March 12, 1926—There were three cases of scarlet fever in the city. All three cases were being cared for in the annex of the Sahler Sanitarium, which had been leased by the health department.

John A. Redican was elected exalted ruler of Kingston Lodge of Elks.

William A. Burns died in Port Ewen.

March 12, 1936—Spring freshets raised the waters in the Rondout creek to flood stage, and as the water rushed down the creek it broke up 20 inch ice; piled up boats, torn loose from their moorings, at the creek mouth; sunk the tug Rob of the Cornell Line, and inundated the Island Dock.

The spring freshet caused considerable damage throughout Ulster county raising the streams to flood stages, and sending tons of rock and mud tumbling over the highways, threatening bridges, houses and schools. Many thrilling rescues of people marooned by the floods were reported throughout the county.

Philip Fruchter, owner of the Paris Millinery Stores in Kingston, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie, died in Phoenix, Arizonia, after a long illness.

Conferences Listed For Landscaping

The Ulster County Home Bureau is holding a series of conferences on the landscaping of home grounds during the month of March to which the public is invited.

The places for the conferences listed below were chosen because they offer typical landscape problems. Professor Andrew Ditton from the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell will discuss each location in detail and there will be time for those present to ask questions about their own properties.

March 19—10 a. m.—Mrs. H. M. Eppes, Accord.
March 19—2 p. m.—Mrs. William Hookey, Lake Katrine.
March 20—10 a. m.—Mrs. Carlton Van de Water, New Paltz.
March 20—2 p. m.—Mrs. Oscar Smith, Wallkill.
March 21—10 a. m.—Mrs. Paul Todaro, Milton.

On the afternoon of March 21, at 2 p. m., at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Professor Ditton will give a blackboard talk on "Basic Landscape Design." The public is welcome.

The rate of accidents on school grounds in May, 1944, was twice that for April of the same year.

State Exposition Proposed by Dewey

Governor Seeks Enlarged Facilities to Cover All Phases of State Work

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Governor Dewey proposed today that "an all-inclusive exposition" replace the annual New York State Fair.

In a special message, the Governor said that the state's industrial and commercial activities deserve comparable recognition with agriculture in an exposition truly representative of our entire productive life."

The fair has not been held for the past four years because of the use of the Syracuse Fairgrounds as an Army Air Forces supply base. Cost of rehabilitating the buildings and ground would entail heavy expense, Dewey said.

A bill to create a commission to study the feasibility of a state exposition has been introduced by Assemblyman Clellan S. Forsythe.

Discuss Advertising Campaign

The Van Slyke and Horton Company, makers of the Peter Schuyler cigar, introduced a new advertising campaign to their field men Saturday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Benjamin Schwartz, chairman of the board of Schwartz Bros., Cigar Corp., referred to the steady progress made in the sale of Peter Schuyler cigars, now known from coast to coast. Further increases in production await only the receipt of increased manufacturing facilities, he said. The new advertising campaign is built around the frequent use of the initial letters P.S., from which many slogans are made. Shown above from left to right in the rear are William Wallack, W. C. Radar To Clock Speed of Man Falling From Stratosphere

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Science Reporter

Atlantic City, N. J., March 12 (AP)—Radar has a new use—to clock the sped of a man falling from an airplane in or near the stratosphere.

The experiments made at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, were reported to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology today by George Hallenbeck, Jack Glazier and George Maison of the aeromedical laboratory at the field.

One man was used and a number of dummies, the size, shape and weights of man. The man who weighed 240 pounds pulled the cord of his chute after a long fall and finished his descent in safety. The dummies weighed from 180 to 280 pounds.

The human being fell faster than the dummies, in all cases. The man might have descended more rapidly because he instinctively hunched his body against the force of the wind, which he faced when he leaped and which was created by his rapid acceleration in falling. The report states however that more data are needed on the falling rates of human beings. The falling speeds are around 100 miles an hour.

The object of this radar work is to determine how a person may jump safely from a speeding plane. The impact of the air is the first danger. It might be so great as to cause injury in leaping from a very fast plane. This impact of the air is greater at low altitudes than at high, provided the speed of the plane is the same in both cases.

Another object is to learn how long it takes a live person, falling from a plane near the stratosphere, to reach an altitude where he may safely open his parachute. At very high altitudes, there is so little oxygen in the air that a person leaping from a plane might be asphyxiated, if he pulled the chute rip cord immediately because he would descend too slowly to the level where he could breathe enough oxygen. That level is usually below 25,000 feet.

Another danger is that if it takes too long to fall, without the chute opened, the chutist will become unconscious before reaching the level where it is safe to open the chute.

That Did It

Kansas City, March 12 (AP) — Floyd Harvey, deputy collector of Internal Revenue, tried to explain to a taxpayer that money paid to a veterinarian for care of the man's dog was not deductible from his federal income tax.

The taxpayer insisted the dog belonged to his family, was dependent on the family, and that its medical expenses should be deducted.

"Well, I'll put it this way," Harvey sighed. "Just how is the dog related to you? Is it by blood, marriage, or adoption?"

That ended the discussion.

The last private in the outfit, Walter Orndorff of Cumberland, Md., is being discharged, leaving 26 assorted sergeants, half a dozen corporals and four P.F.C.'s.

Auto Production Moves Up As Ford Assembly Lines Open

By DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, March 12 (AP)—With the reopening yesterday of several of the Ford Motor Company's assembly lines this week's production of 1946 model passenger automobiles will move up again toward the 30,000 unit level.

The industry's normal peacetime output is around 100,000 cars weekly.

Returning to production yesterday were Ford assembly lines at nearby Dearborn, Louisville, Ky., and Buffalo, N. Y. Other Ford plants at Edgewater, N. J., St. Paul, Minn., and Chester, Pa., are scheduled to reopen today and those at Somerville, Mass., Kansas City, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., and Chicago on Wednesday.

When the Ford assembly lines were halted several weeks ago because of the steel strike their aggregate assemblies were in excess of 15,000 units weekly. With no further interruptions they probably will get back to that volume within the next three weeks.

Normal Ford output is between 25,000 and 30,000 units weekly.

Currently in production besides the Ford, Mercury and Lincoln lines are Chrysler's Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler divisions; Studebaker, Hudson, Nash and Willys-Overland, the latter on peacetime "jeep" assemblies.

Closed are General Motors' Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac divisions, strike-bound since last November 21, and the Packard Motor Car Co.

Packard closed its assembly lines on January 24 because of a shortage of crankshaft and connecting rod bearings obtained from a General Motors subsidiary. It does not expect to reopen for at least three weeks after the G.M. plants return to production.

Since starting production of the 1946 models the industry has turned out about 220,000 passenger units. Of the total, Ford has made 92,000; Chrysler divisions about 50,000 and General Motors plants about 25,000 units. No G.M. vehicles have been assembled since the strike began. Packard had completed approximately 4,000 of its clipper models when its assembly lines were shut down six weeks ago.

The industry now is about 1,000,000 units behind the schedule it laid out last October. With an easing of labor and supply problems it may produce 3,000,000 passenger units this year instead of the 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 some optimistic industry sources predicted six months ago.

FAIR PLAY OUR POLICY ON NEW CAR DELIVERIES!

IN COOPERATION with the Ford Motor Company, we are making every effort to give earliest possible delivery of new cars to our patrons, according to the fairest method we have been able to devise. ● ● During the current shortage, when there are not enough new cars for all who want them, we are filling orders for new cars on the basis of first come first served. There are two important exceptions to this rule:

1. We are definitely reserving a substantial percentage of our cars to supply those who have served in the armed forces. This we feel is simple justice and conforms with public interest and fair play.

2. If emergency need for a new car is a factor, as in the case of doctors and nurses, we will, in the public interest determine priority according to the now abolished but publicly accepted OPA priority lists.

● ● We believe these delivery policies are in your interest. We will use every care to see that the procedure works fairly and that exceptions to the rule of first orders delivered first are made only in genuinely deserving cases.

● ● Both in the matter of increasing production and speeding delivery, the Ford Motor Company and we ourselves are making every effort to get your new car in your hands promptly and fairly. We want to assure you that the '46 Ford is out in front in everything and is well worth waiting for.

A certain top-rank Air Forces general made a guest inspection of a Naval Air Base. Invited to try out a new flying boat, he undertook to pilot it himself. All went well until the general circled a nearby field for a landing. The Commander, whose guest he was, was stuffed with protocol but had to do something.

Commander (in his politest tone) — General, wouldn't it be better to land a flying boat in the water?

General (reddening)—Of course, Commander, what was I thinking of?

He made a safe water landing, and rising from the wheel remarked:

General—I want to thank you, Commander, for the tactful way you called my attention to my incredible blunder.

Upon saying this, the star-studded General opened the cabin door and clamly stepped into the bay!

As old age comes on, you are amazed at how little you really know.

Two tramps hailed before a police judge charged with vagrancy. In the course of the testimony the following evidence is brought out:

Judge—Where do you live?

First Tramp—Nowhere, your honor.

Judge (to other tramp)—And where do you live?

Second Tramp—I've got the room above him.

Hope!

Most of us are blessed with the ability and imagination to see the clear blue of the heavens beyond the darkest clouds.

Were it not for this Divine Gift, it would indeed be difficult for mankind to survive the storms and strife that comes into his daily life.

Sometimes, in fact more than often, optimism is as much a pose as is pessimism.

No one can continuously maintain an attitude of cheerfulness—the "Pollyanna" type of individual is to be avoided as much as the chronic fault-finder.

But the cheerful personality attracts friendships because real cheerfulness has its roots in an abiding faith of the ultimate squareness of things.

Nothing can very much harm the person who sincerely believes in the ultimate survival of right.

Next to the inner belief in the survival of right is the God-given gift of helping others to be hopeful.

To paraphrase an expression of the beloved Lincoln—"that man has served who has plucked a doubt and planted a hope wherever he thought a hope would grow."

Hope springs eternal in the human breast—and the person who has the knack of developing hope in another's mind is doing the Master's bidding of: "Love thy neighbor."

The beautiful and the good are permanent . . . all else is a passing cloud. . . .

And in Conclusion—

As we go through life,
Each one of us learns
That we never get dizzy
Doing good turns.
—Mrs. F. Raymond McMillan

A kind-hearted minister asked a man in jail how e happened to be there. The fellow said, with tears in his eyes, that he was coming home from prayer meeting, and sat down to rest, fell asleep, and while he was asleep there the county built the jail around him, and when he awoke the jailer wouldn't let him out.

Ape-Man Studied

A new example of the missing link seems to have been found in fossil form near Johannesburg, South Africa, where two scientists of the American Museum of Natural History, Drs. Wm. K. Gregory and Milo Hellman have been reconstructeding the skull of an ancient animal. Based on casts and minutely detailed measurements this reconstruction shows the "pleisanthropus" (Greek for "almost man") intermediate in physical characteristics between an ape and a man.

Hurley Grange feels justly proud that Sister Ethel Palen, one of our members, is a member of the State Service and Hospitality Committee. She gave a report of the last Pomona meeting and also of the Grange Conference held recently in Ithaca.

A very impressive part of the meeting was the draping of the charter in memory of Sister Matilda Kurdt, who died recently.

Past Master George Dixon was presented with a Past Master's pin by Master Justin Bell. Applications for membership were received from Thomas and Marian Flynn.

Arrangements will be made by the Service and Hospitality Committee chairman, Sister Josephine Ten Eyck for our Grange to present an evening's entertainment at the Home for the Aged in Kingston. The time will be announced later.

Courthouse Is Being Painted and Renovated Inside

A spring house cleaning job which has been going on for some time at the Ulster county court house is nearing completion and when completed the entire building will be resplendent in new paint and varnish.

County Auditor and Purchasing Agent J. H. Heaton had the work started some time ago when work was commenced on the upper corridor walls and ceiling. This work completed, the remaining portions of the building looks so dingy that the work was continued until practically all offices have been redecorated. Workmen are now at work in the offices of the Board of Supervisors and the next job will be in the Purchasing Agents office and in the District Attorney's offices on the second floor. There the front portion of the present district attorney's suite will be altered and an office made for Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth who since his election to office has occupied offices in the Brinnier Building on John street. This building is shortly to be demolished to make room for an addition to the State of New York Bank.

District Attorney Haver will occupy the rear offices adjacent to Justice Elsworth's office.

In the redecorating program at the court house the entire upper floor will be redecorated, including the court room, supreme court library, justice's offices and the corridors as well as the grand jury room. On the ground floor County Judge John M. Cashin's offices have been completed as well as the sheriff's office, county treasurer's offices and the Supervisor's room. Walls have been done over in a green hued paint, ceilings are white and the woodwork has been revarnished.

PARKING ACCOMMODATIONS

Parking space for automobiles in the John street parking grounds will be continued under different management. The grounds, which for many years were under the jurisdiction of the Uptown Business Men's Association, will be operated now by the county.

The county owns the property and the parking grounds are a great convenience to the people of the county and the city. The change was made at the suggestion of the Business Men's Association. The grounds will remain a free parking space for the public and will be under the direction of the county superintendent of highways.

There is great demand for parking space in this section and without these parking grounds the problem of parking cars there would be serious.

With more favorable weather conditions for automobile travel, there will be an increased demand for parking accommodations. Now is the time to plan for the day when the cars really begin coming to town.

Adequate parking space is a necessity today if we desire to have people come to our community to do business.

It is the same with housing and factory floor space. We cannot expect people to come here if we do not have sufficient shelter for them and we can't expect to have new factories locate here if we can't accommodate them.

A drive to preserve old cars as historic records is urged by the Automobile Old Timers, a New York organization. Our old car is needed for transportation.

SNAGS IN HOUSING

Building material men, construction and real estate leaders, while endorsing President Truman's plan for wholesale home building, oppose certain provisions, notably price controls and government subsidies, as announced by the new Housing Administrator, Wilson W. Wyatt. One of his recommendations, ceilings on sales price of existing homes, already has been defeated by recent House vote, despite support by Representative Patman of Texas, father of this legislation.

Wyatt's plan, aiming at production of 2,700,000 dwelling units this year and next, calls for governmental subsidies of $600,000,000 for materials; mortgage allowances up to 90 per cent of values; $6,000 ceiling, except in certain localities, on priority homes; channelling of practically all building into small homes. The National Association of Home Builders at its Chicago convention approved extensive home building, but urged lifting of price controls as soon as possible. Another national group of builders, a fact-finding committee of the industry, labelled the Wyatt program "planned economy experimentation," and says it is holding up housing.

Despite these widespread fundamental differences about the need for government controls and aid, everyone is agreed millions of low-cost durable homes should be built, and without delay. Congress and the builders will have to get out of each other's way and come to terms. President Truman sums up the nation's sentiment: "It is not a political but an American issue primarily affecting families of veterans who must be enabled to move from shacks and trailers into homes they can afford, for which they fought, for whose defense they risked their lives."

LOOKING FORWARD

"Balancing the budget" is an old and doubtless wearisome theme, but it has to be done sooner or later if the United States government is to maintain its solvency. A recent statement made by 16 serious-minded members of Congress brings out the interesting fact that the national budget was actually in balance, with a little to spare, in a short period of the fiscal year 1937. And that there seems to be a possibility of a similar break lately, suggested by the surprising fact that national revenues surpassed expenditures in the month of February just past. A financial expert observes:

"While for perfectly obvious reasons we are not nearly so well off as we were when for a short while treasury income exceeded outgo a decade ago, it is possible again to look forward to a balanced budget and to all its favorable implications."

All of which is good indeed, for a nation that has passed through Uncle Sam's experience in these last few years. It is another example of the old warning, never to be "bearish" on the U.S.A.

ADVICE TO BUSINESS MEN

If a business man has a scheme and wants $5,000,000—more or less—my solemn advice to him is to get next to somebody who knows somebody in Washington who has an in. Now, I do not know Nick Bez. He may be a good man, a kind father, a loving husband, a patriotic citizen. My first contact with his name was a picture in "Life" of July 9, 1945. In a row-boat are five gentlemen. One stands, waving a hat in his right hand; in his left is a king salmon which the caption says "he did not catch." He wears a very gay and fancy sweater. His face is wreathed in a smile. His bow-tie is sartorially perfect. His name is Harry Truman.

Beside him sits Governor Wallgren of Washington. Rowing is Nick Bez. The others are not identified.

I was attracted by the name Bez. I had never seen it before. So I inquired who is Bez? Somebody told me he was associated with the United Committee of South Slavic Americans, which is a Tito propaganda outfit. He must be something more than that, said I to myself, to be rowing the President of the United States in the company of the governor of Washington.

Then I found that Nick Bez had been set up by the American government in a special fishing business to the tune of $3,750,000—a floating cannery and factory ship and five trawlers being conditioned and constructed for him. The recommendation so to do was made by Marvin Jones of the Defense Plant Corporation on March 26, 1945, which perhaps is why the aforesaid Nick Bez is so full of smiles as he rows in June the President who holds a dead fish in his left hand.

Now before me lief a report of the United States Department of the Interior, Fish and Wild Life Service—all managed at that time by Harold Ickes, now resigned and relegated to writing a column. In spite of the fact that on August 31, 1945, J. B. Hutson, acting secretary of agriculture, advised the R.F.C. that Nick Bez's project was no longer essential and that his department was unable to reaffirm its former recommendation, Brother Ickes's bulletin, "Fishery Products Report Number—274 (continued)" says of Nick Bez's project: "Sponsored by the War Food Administration, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation agreed to finance the establishment of an American-operated fishing enterprise in the Pacific as a measure to assist in the prosecution of the war effort. The completion of the project was assured December 21, when the Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced that the undertaking would be continued."

Note: This circular was issued on December 26, 1945; V-J. Day was September 2, 1945. How come, Mr. Ickes was still assisting "in the prosecution of the war effort?"

The total project is described as follows in Harold Ickes's circular:

". . . The steel cargo ocean-going vessel, the 'S.S. Mormacray,' obtained from the War Shipping Administration, for several months has been in process of conversion into a factory ship for the freezing, processing and canning of fish, and it is estimated that the conversion work will be completed early next year. This vessel is 8,368 deadweight tons, 5,946 gross register tons, and 3,744 net register tons and is now in the yards of Bellingham Iron Works, Bellingham, Wash., where it is being equipped and converted into a factory ship. . . . It is contemplated that four steel-constructed trawlers of approximately 165 tons each, all Diesel-powered, will either be built or otherwise acquired to be used in catching and conveying fish to the factory ship."

Now here is a project that concerns the Department of Agriculture, the State Department, the Department of the Interior, the R.F.C., the War Food Administration, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and they all get moving fast on it. It is a bit puzzling and I should like to know who this Nick Bex is that he can get all these great men hopping around to serve his purposes, particularly after the Department of Agriculture said that his scheme had no value as there would be enough protein around. Some guy!

BLEEDING PEPTIC ULCER

I have written recently about amino acids and how they were flown to Germany to restore the starving allied prisoners of war. I also pointed out that it is the proteins in certain foods such as meats and cheese that makes them such valuable foods for starving, worn out, anemic individuals. These amino acids give nourishment rapidly and so strengthen the patient that he is soon up and about instead of having to remain in bed and rest for a long time.

The most common disease in the armed forces and in the civilian population also during the war, is ulcer of the stomach and small intestine (peptic ulcer) believed caused by nervousness, anxiety and other emotional disturbances. These patients are kept on a strict diet which helps heal the ulcer but the patient is weak and has thin blood during and for some time after treatment is given. It can thus be seen that a patient whose ulcer breaks down and bleeds will lose a lot of blood, and is greatly weakened. It is most encouraging to learn then that our research workers are making use of these wonderful amino acids in the treatment of bleeding peptic ulcer.

In Gastroenterology, Baltimore, Dr. J. S. Levy reports that eleven patients with severe bleeding from peptic ulcer were treated with the usual Sippy diet for ulcer to which was added a daily dose of from 100 to 200 grains of a mixture of amino acids given by mouth. The amount of protein in the serum or liquid part of the blood returned to normal in about ten days. In a control group of 6 patients who were given the Sippy diet without any amino acids, the serum returned to normal on an average of about 19 days; that is about twice as long as where amino acids were used.

Dr. Levy stresses that the use of amino acids taken by mouth in cases of peptic ulcer with severe bleeding has many advantages. The amino acids act as a buffer combining with acid thus acting as an antacid; it spares digestive activity in intestine and helps to build up protein in the blood which has lost so much protein from the bleeding of ulcer.

NEW VEGETABLE WINNER "LONGREEN" SNAPBEAN
"TENDERGREEN" PREVIOUS ALL-AMERICA SELECTION
PODS ARE INCH LONGER THAN-

A Newcomer for Post-War Vegetable Gardens

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

FORECASTS of food shortages emphasize the need of post-war vegetable gardens. Therefore, in laying out this year's flower beds, save a little space for a "food garden" and contine to "grow your own."

There is only one new vegetable for 1946 gardens, but it is a champion All-American selection, a new snapbean called "Longreen."

This newcomer is brand new. Seeds are not yet in large quantities, as are other standard varieties, for war conditions kept growers from raising enough for all expected demands. Order early from your seedsman if you hope to enjoy this new bean.

Longreen snapbean, illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, is best compared with Tendergreen, a previous All-America selection, also illustrated.

The pods of Longreen, round, stringless and fiberless and of finest quality are an inch longer than Tendergreen. The plants are also heavier producers. The fact that Longreen is an improvement over what was the most popular and largest planted bean in America is a horticultural achievement.

It begins to bear in about 56 days after planting and continues to provide heavy picking for some time to come if planted in good rich soil. The pods measure seven inches in length, are fleshy and straight.

Longreen has been thoroughly tried, along with 40 other proposed 1946 variety entries, by the 17 official All-America vegetable judges in each of their trial grounds over North America. It demonstrated its superiority in all sections where snapbeans are successfully grown: north, south, east and west.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Monday, May 17, 1926, was a gala day in the city, marking the opening of the newly completed Governor Clinton Hotel to the public. The event was marked with a parade that formed on Broadway, at Andrew street, and marched to the hotel where exercises were held.

Roy Sutliff was grand marshal of the parade, and the music was furnished for the marchers by the Citizens' Band of this city.

At the exercises at the hotel Frank R. Powley, who served as treasurer of the funds raised in the campaign to construct the hotel, told of the dream of some of the citizens that had resulted in adding a new and modern hotel to the life of the city.

Max L. Reben, president of the Chamber of Commerce, also spoke briefly, of the steps that had been taken before the hotel was actually built.

George H. Wartman served as the first manager of the new hotel.

The first formal dinner served in the hotel was the evening of the exercises when the board of directors met and dined, and congratulated each other and the public.

Money to build the hotel was raised in a whirlwind campaign in which many of the most prominent men of the city participated.

Judge Alton B. Parker, Ulster county's most distinguished citizen, died of a heart attack while being driven through Central Park in New York city in his automobile, en route to his home, Rosemont, at Esopus, on May 10, 1926, aged 74 years.

Judge Parker became nationally known when he was the Democratic candidate for president in 1904, but was defeated at the polls by President Theodore Roosevelt.

From 1873, when he was elected clerk of the Ulster county Board of Supervisors, until 1898, Judge Parker was a resident of this city, and was active in the civic and social life of Kingston.

He first made his home on Green street, and later in the house at Pearl street and Clinton avenue, which now houses the mortuary home of A. Carr & Sons.

In 1898 he erected a magnificent home at Esopus which was named Rosemont.

Dr. Walter Hasbrouck died on May 14, 1926 in this city after a brief illness. He had practiced medicine in Kingston for many years, and for a long period of time was city physician for the western department of the city when the city's needy were taken care of by the alms board, which later became the charity board.

Fraternally Dr. Hasbrouck was a member of the Rondout Lodge of Masons.

Crawford R. Styles, for years a well known uptown business man, died on May 16, 1926, in his home on Franklin street.

For 26 years he was a member of the firm of A. A. and F. R. Styles, who conducted a large bakery and grocery business on Wall street, at Main street.

Goose Keeps Its Lives

Goose with a charmed life still flourishes at Castlemorris, England, on the Parkynolau Farm of T. O. Morris. First the goose escaped slaughter for the table, the fate which befell most of the flock. Then, when Morris brought his livestock in for the night, he missed the goose and gave it up for lost. Next day he found the bird in the middle of the pond, frozen in and covered with ice. It quickly recovered in front of a fire.

Would Be Well for Russians to Recall That U. S. Materials And Men Helped Keep Nazi Regime Out of Moscow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 12—Most important in the development of relations between Russia and the outside world is the bitter denunciation of former Prime Minister Churchill by the official Moscow newspaper "Pravda."

Although the text of the Churchill address of Fulton, Missouri, was not printed or broadcast in Russia, it was apparently read very minutely by the official group. The fact that the Russians used "Pravda" to answer and that the article was couched, according to a Moscow dispatch, in "bitter, vigorous language such as is seldom used in that paper" and more in line with pre-war castigations of Churchill as a "hardened reactionary, war monger and hypocrite" will awaken Americans to an awareness of a strange phenomenon. It is that the Russians completely misunderstood freedom of speech and think that the best way to conduct a pursuasive debate is to call the other fellow bad names.

If the Russian propagandists are trying to right themselves with world opinion, they have chosen the wrong way to accomplish it. One certain way to make friends for the Churchill viewpoint is to attack the motives of the man who led Britain through a victorious war. The world will not soon cast away the views of a former prime minister of Britain as being aimed solely at bringing on another conflict.

It is also regrettable that the Moscow organ of the Soviet government—its official newspaper—should be denouncing Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan as making "false speeches on Democracy."

Friends of Russia will be alienated by such tactics. Russia has many more friends in the United States than she evidently knows about, but she can lose them rapidly if she assumes that the American people cannot see through the accusations of official propaganda or the red herrings which are periodically dragged across the trails of world diplomacy, such as appear in the Russian note about Bulgaria.

Russia is wasting valuable time that she could be using to forge a real friendship with the American people. Misguided advisers are apparently telling her that she can divide the American people by bitter denunciations of those who choose to speak their views frankly.

There can be no doubt that Americans recognize the weaknesses of British imperialism as well as do the Russians. There can be no doubt also that a substantial segment of American opinion is flexible on the subject of removing the "spheres of influence" in Europe, whether they be British or Russian. Yet the wrong way to solve the problems created by these spheres or to achieve true "democracy," which term the Russian organs of opinion use so loosely, is not to call everybody who disagrees with Russia a Fascist or a war monger or an enemy of Moscow.

If the Soviet is bent on ignoring the facts of international life, notwithstanding the genuine efforts of peaceloving statesmen in other countries, if Moscow persists in arguing that everything Russia wants is hers and every agreement must be interpreted as she construes it, then what Former Prime Minister Churchill begged for may come sooner than the Russians realize. For if the American government finds the Russian tactics inscrutable and there is no genuine interchange of views or substantial progress toward making the United Nations Organization successful, it will not be long before the world will be discussing bigger armaments and the time or place for the outbreak of a third World War.

What is particularly disheartening is that the Russian diplomats and propagandists can so soon forget that the United States sent four million men to open a "second front" to save Russia from the Nazi armies. If the United States had stayed neutral, there would be no Soviet in existence today, but a Nazi regime in Moscow. All that is asked is that the Russians temper their denunciation of Mr. Churchill, and others who served the Allied cause, with a bit of gratitude for the thousands of Americans and British who died to beat Germany—from the fruits of which victory the Moscow government has profited and benefited so extensively.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP) World Traveler

Bern, Switzerland, March 12—Europe's greatest non-political problem continues to be food, but little Switzerland, which depends heavily on imports, has averted a national catastrophy by her manner of handling it.

I refer to food as the biggest non-political problem because the world in general gives first place to the question of whether there will be another war.

If there is one—which your columnist refuses to anticipate—it will be political and likely will grow out of the present dangerous revamping of the balance of power.

Whether death by military violence is of more concern than death by starvation may be open to debate. In any event, let's talk about food, because the way Switzerland has dealt with—and is dealing with—this vital subject is a revelation of her character, and an object lesson to a world.

Swiss Foresight

Our story starts back before the war, and that's important because it bespeaks foresight on the part of the Swiss. After the Munich conference in 1938 the government, realizing that Europe faced a crisis, began to help food importers with loans at small interest in order to buy great food supplies.

Then in May, 1939, months before the war started, each housewife was ordered to buy two months stock of food—and the government helped those short of money. This supply was held in reserve. When the conflict began the government froze completely for two months the sale of non-perishable foodstuffs and in that period organized the food rationing which still continues, with everybody happy. Without these precautions, of course, starvation would have swept the country because it isn't self-supporting.

Designates Private

When Hitler struck at Poland on September 1, 1939, the Swiss army was mobilized for defense. There was in the ranks a private by the name of Arnold Muggli, and the Minister of Economics promptly summoned him to Bern. To Muggli's amazement the Minister said:

"You're the only one capable of organizing rationing. I want you to undertake it."

Not to make too much of a mystery of the Muggli drama, he had been an organizer of banks. Rationing was an unknown quantity to him but he tackled it, and, finding no guidance in any foreign rationing plan, he created one of his own on the high moral code that "if everybody cares enough and everybody shares enough, everybody will have enough."

Called for Self-Discipline

This called for national self-discipline and responsibility on the part of every person in the country, especially the women folk. It not only pulled Switzerland through the war but its the one under which Mrs. Mack and I are getting our food now—and excellent provender it is, too. Every family always has its share.

Muggli inaugurated personal contact with the people, and he not only used the radio and public conferences but set up a committee of women to advise him on household problems. He discussed all matters with the whole country. When his office made a mistake he promptly admitted it and made a fresh start. As a result he soon became one of the most popular figures in Switzerland—and that's something for a rationing chief.

Meantime food production has been increased from enough to feed 2,000,000—or half the population—to enough for 3,500,000. And there has been virtually no black market in food.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

March 12, 1926—There were three cases of scarlet fever in the city. All three cases were being cared for in the annex of the Sahler Sanitarium, which had been leased by the health department.

John A. Redican was elected exalted ruler of Kingston Lodge of Elks.

William A. Burns died in Port Ewen.

March 12, 1936—Spring freshets raised the waters in the Rondout creek to flood stage, and as the water rushed down the creek it broke up 20 inch ice; piled up boats, torn loose from their moorings, at the creek mouth; sunk the tug Rob of the Cornell Line, and inundated the Island Dock.

The spring freshet caused considerable damage throughout Ulster county raising the streams to flood stages, and sending tons of rock and mud tumbling over the highways, threatening bridges, houses and schools. Many thrilling rescues of people marooned by the floods were reported throughout the county.

Philip Fruchter, owner of the Paris Millinery Stores in Kingston, Newburgh and Poughkeepsie, died in Phoenix, Arizona, after a long illness.

Conferences Listed For Landscaping

The Ulster County Home Bureau is holding a series of conferences on the landscaping of home grounds during the month of March to which the public is invited.

The places for the conferences listed below were chosen because they offer typical landscape problems. Professor Andrew Ditton from the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell will discuss each location in detail and there will be time for those present to ask questions about their own properties.

March 19—10 a. m.—Mrs. H. M. Eppes, Accord.
March 19—2 p. m.—Mrs. William Hookey, Lake Katrine.
March 20—10 a. m.—Mrs. Carlton Van de Water, New Paltz.
March 20—2 p. m.—Mrs. Oscar Smith, Wallkill.
March 21—10 a. m.—Mrs. Paul Todaro, Milton.

On the afternoon of March 22 at 2 p. m., at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Professor Ditton will give a blackboard talk on "Basic Landscape Design." The public is welcome.

The rate of accidents on school grounds in May, 1944, was [illegible] that for April of the same year.

Twentieth Century Hears Papers on Canadian Territory

Twentieth Century Club met with Miss Mary Ingalls, 679 Broadway, Monday afternoon. The first paper for the afternoon on Canada's Awakening North was given by Mrs. C. B. Dickinson from material found in the book of the same name by Richard Phinney. She explained the development of the northern part of Canada where are found not only fur but gold, oil, copper, zinc and pitch blend. She spoke of the importance of the airplane in transporting people and supplies. Yellow Knife, a city 700 miles north of any other Canadian city is an example of a community that can be built in the region. In addition to the airplane, there are two different railways and four different routes have been suggested for a highway. Among the agricultural products is wheat. The tourist trade is most profitable.

Mrs. G. N. Wood gave the second paper by taking the members on an imaginary trip through the Rocky Mountains. Two railways practically divide the mountains. The entrance into the mountains is 4,200 feet high and the trip takes the tourists in view of many of the noted peaks of the Canadian Rockies. Among them are the Three sisters and Mt. Logan, the latter of which is 19,850 feet high. Mrs. Wood compared Lake Louise and Like Milan with their important resorts.

The next meeting will be held March 25 at the home of Miss Alice Scardefield.

Mrs. Heiselman Is Hostess To Sorosis Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman was hostess to Sorosis Monday afternoon at her home, 173 West Chestnut street. Current events reported included the remarkable effect of music in benefiting the mentally ill as cited in cases in a hospital in Michigan treating split personalities; the new anti-barnacle paint used on ships; the agricultural chemical "tufor"; and the origin of hot cross buns. These buns it was explained were not at first associated with Good Friday but rather with Easter. They were given to those who came a long distance to attend church on Easter Sunday. The custom originated in England. Mention was also made of the service at Middle Collegiate Church in New York city for the members of the Holland Society who died during 1945. One of the members was the late President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Heiselman gave the paper on "Ceramics." She defined her subject as something that is made of clay or non-metallic earth, and baked. She spoke of articles which could be classed in this category as vitreous composition for the sewer pipes, enamel and pottery ware. Tracing the history of ceramics from ancient times in China and the European countries, she noted that ceramics are known to almost every nation on the earth.

For training today she spoke of the state college at Alfred University which specializes in this art. She described some of the popular uses today such as figurines for decorating. Other ceramic products include bricks, glass, cement, lime and gypsum. Ceramics in America were rapidly developed in the South, Mrs. Heiselman noted, as the industry kept parallel with the whiskey business supplying the demand for containers.

She spoke of the four stages in the manufacture of ceramics; cleaning of clay; shaping and drying, baking and cooling; and glazing. Marking the differences between chinaware and pottery, she explained that china is translucent while pottery is opaque. In closing Mrs. Heiselman exhibited several pieces of ceramicware.

Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, 7 Mountain View avenue. Mrs. William J. McVey will give the paper on "Metal Crafts."

Bobs Are Back in Vogue At International Beauty Show

By VIVIAN BROWN

New York, March 12 (AP)—"Designs for peacetime living" is the keynote of the 1946 International Beauty Show.

But whether it will be peaceful living when pop seems mom in the new bobs reminiscent of the 20's is a hair of another color.

The general trend in hairdos displayed is the very short bob. There was a form fitting cap-like crown hairdo by Stanley, a short bob with waves at the sides brought over the ears by Harry Vogt and feather bobs with about a three-inch band of brushed-out curls going all around the head by John Hall. Bangs ranged from the short, soft, feathery waves to long bang-dip arrangements.

Beauty operators attending the convention couldn't quite make up their minds.

They applauded for long-hair enthusiasts as well as the short bobs. And among the lady operators, though many said they were for short bobs, few wore them.

Men hair stylists were divided in their opinions. Jonathan Somerville of New York doesn't like the short bob because he thinks in order to please the woman you've got to please their critics, the men. Besides he doesn't think women like it, either. He says: "It won't be as much fun for a woman to do her hair if it is short. She can't find as many styles to suit her and once it is cut, it is off for a long time."

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

WHEN FIRST NAME CALLING IS A PROBLEM

A question hard to answer, because it depends not only upon the feeling of the person in question but also upon those of her husband and other members of the parish, is explained in this letter: "Is it fitting or proper to call our pastor's wife by her first name? We all call each other by first names and when she is with us, it seems stiff to call her Mrs. B— because she is a friendly person although rather formal. However, she herself never has asked us to call her by first name. Some of the ladies feel that calling her 'Mary' would show her how we feel about her."

It seems to me that whichever one of you knows her best should ask her how she and her husband might feel about it. Take special notice of the reserve or the enthusiasm with which she answers and take your direction from this, rather than from what she says.

Silver Goblets

Dear Mr. Post: Are silver goblets and wine glasses in good taste and may they be used with china plates? In your latest edition, the table settings show only crystal glasses.

Answer: This is merely because silver goblets are very unusual. Those who have them certainly may use them and they do not require matching silver plates.

Sending Flowers To One's Hostess

Dear Mr. Post: A friend is giving a lunch party in my honor. Is it customary at such a time to take a present to my hostess and if so, what should it be, and when should this be given to her?

Answer: It is never necessary to give anything at all. However, to send her some flowers would be very pleasing. They should be sent at least an hour before the meal so that there is plenty of time to have them arranged.

Engagement Announcements Possible

Dear Mrs. Post: Your book seems to disapprove of conventionally engraved announcements of an engagement. Does it mean it is against the rule to send out announcements?

Answer: Personally written notes are in very best taste. Formally engraved announcements never have been thoroughly accepted in America.

Ives Commission Promises Investigation of 'Milk Spread'

By ROBERT S. JOHANSON

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—An investigation of the "milk spread" was pledged today by the Ives Agricultural Commission while the group's Democratic minority labeled the commission's report a "whitewash" for "failure to take any decisive stand" on the issue.

The temporary commission on agriculture, headed by Assembly Republican Leader Irving M. Ives, in a majority report to the Legislature also proposed a probe of cooperatives, elimination of price ceilings on several products and continuation of federal food subsidies.

Senator Vincent R. Corrou, New Hartford, and Assemblyman Frank A. Emma, Utica, minority members of the 17-man body, declared the group was created last year "to forestall the popular demand for a real inquiry in the 'milk spread.'" They said the majority report "succeeded admirably in accomplishing this purpose and nothing else."

Ives told reporters the commission about May 1 would begin a study of the spread—the difference in price received by milk producers and paid by consumers. He asserted the Democratic statement "is obviously a case of dragging politics into this."

Governor Dewey, meanwhile, in a special message to the Legislature recommended passage of several bills, previously introduced, to carry out several of the commission's proposals.

In a 112-page report, the commission also advocated that:

1—Emergency farm labor provisions be continued.

2—The state lend increased assistance in soil conservation.

3—A program of converting abandoned farm land into forests and recreational areas be expanded and speeded.

4—Price differentials for higher fall production of milk be widened and that dairymen be acquainted "with the urgent need for more milk in the fall months."

Ex-Prisoner Teaches Jap Prince

By TOM LAMBERT

Tokyo, March 12 (AP)—An Englishman who has spent 21 years in Korea and Japan and was interned as an enemy alien during the war is now the tutor of Japan's Crown Prince Akihito.

Still a British subject despite the long absence from his native land, the educator, R. H. Blyth, is a devout Buddhist who teaches the Crown Prince English but is more interested in "humanizing" the Japanese people through is instruction of embryo diplomats.

Named recently by the Japanese Foreign Ministry to take charge of a school for future diplomats, he predicts that his students eventually will represent a people desirous of living peacefully with the balance of the world.

Blyth, 48, lived at Womstead, London, before coming to the Orient. Graduated from the University of London, he was approached by the Japanese with an offer of a teaching position at Keijo Imperial University in Korea.

Embraces Buddhist Faith

"At the time I was interetsed in going to India because I had become a Buddhist," Blyth said. "I didn't even know where Korea was. However there were few opportunities for teachers in India at that time, so I accepted."

Blyth said he embraced Buddhism because he was unable to reconcile his vegetarian views with beliefs which approve of killing animals for meat. After coming to the Orient he wrote a book "Zen in English Literature and the Oriental Classics." Zen is a Japanese term for one type of Buddhist.

After about 15 years in Korea, he came to Japan to teach English literature at the fourth high school in Kanazawa.

Blyth maintained his British citizenship, so the day after Pearl Harbor he was seized as an enemy alien and imprisoned at Kobe. His Japanese wife followed him to Kobe and their child was born there. He was held four years. Toward the end, some of the 120th American construction workers, captured at Guam, were in the same prison camp.

Americans Fine Men

"They were the first Americans I ever met and I must say they were fine men. The way they got along with one another—sometimes under appalling conditions—was remarkable.

"Camp treatment, now that I know how some of the other prisoners were treated, was quite good. Of course, the food gradually worsened and just before the war ended was very poor."

Going to Tokyo after the surrender, Blyth resumed teaching—this time at the Peers' School, which Akihito attends.

The prince "is getting and is going to get a democratic education." Blyth said. Akihito's course is comparable with that of an American sixth grade student. In addition, he receives about four hours of English instruction weekly from Blyth, who describes him as "amiable, charming."

Advises on Views

The pedagogue deems equally important with his teaching of the prince his role as councilor of the Imperial household, which he advises on American views and reactions to Japanese policies. He has "occasional discussions" with the Emperor but usually talks with the Imperial household minister.

Blyth lives in a large house several blocks from the Peers' School. He is handsome, about five feet 10 inches tall and has gray, wavy hair.

He met me in a small Japanese-style room in which were filled bookcases and a small coal stove. Atop his western style desk, draped with a Japanese scarf, was a cardboard carton which formerly contained American rations.

After 21 years in the Orient, he concedes "I will leave my bones here."

Upswing Is Noted In Ulster County Diphtheria Cases

Ulster county has had three cases of diphtheria during the past eight months according to Dr. Berwyn F. Mattison of the District State Health Office. In discussing the recent reports of increased diphtheria prevalence for upstate New York, he pointed out that we have had more diphtheria here in the past year than was reported in the ten year period from 1933 to 1943. With the exception of the twenty-eight cases, all comparably mild, in the city of Kingston during the epidemic of 1943-44 only two other cases had been reported since 1932.

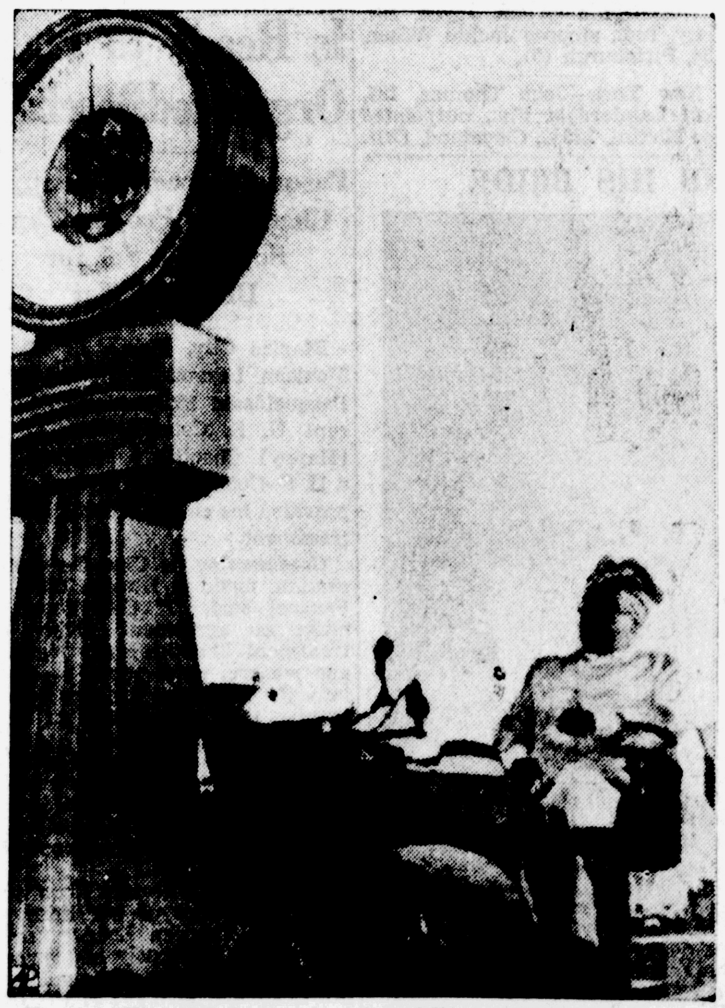
Two of the three recent cases were apparently brought into the local community from army camps and it is thought that a great many new strains of the diphtheria germ are being thus introduced. This necessitates more attention than we have given in the past to protection against diphtheria by means of toxoid injections. These immunizing procedures are recommended during infancy between the sixth and ninth month and a reinforcing dose should always be given when the child enters school.

Diphtheria and its prevention will be the subject of the first of a series of Health Headline programs to be presented by the State Health Department and to be broadcast over Station WKNY each Wednesday at 9:45 a. m., starting on March 13.

Kenya Builds Business

Kenya, in Africa, sees good industrial prospects in two directions—for dehydration and for cracker making. The government built wartime plants to dehydrate vegetables and hopes to make the business pay in peacetime. A firm in Nairobi has started making crackers, using British machinery and native labor. Workers wear white coats and are rigidly inspected. Because butter and sugar are short there, as elsewhere, present output is only a half ton a day. The crackers are made to appeal to African as well as European taste.

HIS WEIGHT IN DIAMONDS



The Aga Khan, leader for 60 years of Ismaili Moslems, sits on one platform of a specially constructed scale at Bombay, while his weight is balanced by 243½ pounds of diamonds (center, foreground) in a ceremony marking his diamond jubilee of leadership. The cash value of the gems, borrowed for the occasion, was set at $2,200,000, will be donated by his followers to the Aga Khan who will use the money for charitable work. Tojo Benefactor Seeks Legislative Position

Harrisburg, Pa., March 12 (AP)—John A. Archinal, of Allentown, Pa., the former Army staff sergeant who gave his blood to save the life of ex-Premier Tojo of Japan last September, seeks the Democratic nomination for Pennsylvania's state House of Representatives.

The 39-year-old bartender filed his nomination petitions for the May 21 primary with the Elections Bureau yesterday.

State Exposition Proposed by Dewey

Governor Seeks Enlarged Facilities to Cover All Phases of State Work

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—Governor Dewey proposed today that "an all-inclusive exposition" replace the annual New York State Fair.

In a special message, the Governor said that the state's industrial and commercial activities deserve comparable recognition with agriculture in an exposition truly representative of our entire productive life."

The fair has not been held for the past four years because of the use of the Syracuse Fairgrounds as an Army Air Forces supply base. Cost of rehabilitating the buildings and ground would entail heavy expense, Dewey said.

A bill to create a commission to study the feasibility of a state exposition has been introduced by Assemblyman Clellan S. Forsythe.

No Changes in Weapons

There were no changes in weapons of war in the eighteenth century except the field gun became lighter and more mobile and the siege gun more powerful.

Discuss Advertising Campaign

The Van Slyke and Horton Company, makers of the Peter Schuyler cigar, introduced a new advertising campaign to their field men Saturday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Benjamin Schwartz, chairman of the board of Schwartz Bros., Cigar Corp., referred to the steady progress made in the sale of Peter Schuyler cigars, now known from coast to coast. Further increases in production await only the receipt of increased manufacturing facilities, he said. The new advertising campaign is built around the frequent use of the initial letters P.S., from which many slogans are made. Shown above from left to right in the rear are William Wallack, W. C. McCarthy, Frank S. Pero, Lyle B. Reigler, James B. Kenary, Hugo W. Glaeser; middle row, Robert B. Nelson, Ralph S. Short, A. M. Fonda, William P. MacNamara, Arthur S. Radar To Clock Speed of Man Falling From Stratosphere

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Science Reporter

Atlantic City, N. J., March 12 (AP)—Radar has a new use—to clock the sped of a man falling from an airplane in or near the stratosphere.

The experiments made at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, were reported to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology today by George Hallenbeck, Jack Glazier and George Maison of the aeromedical laboratory at the field.

One man was used and a number of dummies, the size, shape and weights of men. The man who weighed 240 pounds pulled the cord of his chute after a long fall and finished his descent in safety. The dummies weighed from 180 to 280 pounds.

The human being fell faster than the dummies, in all cases. The man might have descended more rapidly because he instinctively hunched his body against the force of the wind, which he faced when he leaped and which was created by his rapid acceleration in falling. The report states however that more data are needed on the falling rates of human beings. The falling speeds are around 100 miles an hour.

The object of this radar work is to determine how a person may jump safely from a speeding plane. The impact of the air is the first danger. It might be so great as to cause injury in leaping from a very fast plane. This impact of the air is greater at low altitudes than at high, provided the speed of the plane is the same in both cases.

Another object is to learn how long it takes a live person, falling from a plane near the stratosphere, to reach an altitude where he may safely open his parachute. At very high altitudes, there is so little oxygen in the air that a person leaping from a plane might be asphyxiated, if he pulled the chute rip cord immediately because he would descend too slowly to the level where he could breathe enough oxygen. That level is usually below 25,000 feet.

Another danger is that if it takes too long to fall, without the chute opened, the chutist will become unconscious before reaching the level where it is safe to open the chute.

Hatch Is Appointed Assistant Grid Coach at Ithaca Colleg

Will Remain Here For Spring Sports; Is Ithaca Alumnus

Maroon Mentor Has Served Local School for Two Years; Was Successor to Ted Conwicke

Kingston High School will be looking for a new football coach next fall as it was learned Monday that Coach Pete Hatch, Maroon and White gridiron mentor for the past two seasons, had accepted a coaching berth at Ithaca College. Hatch announced that he would serve as assistant football coach to Jimmy Freeman, present head coach at Ithaca, and would do "field duties" in basketball and baseball.

Thanks Local Backing

"This is really the best opportunity I've ever had," Coach Hatch told the press Monday when he learned of his new appointment, "and, although I would like to remain in Kingston long enough to give the Maroon school a winner, there's a big jump from coaching in high school to college. I want to express my thanks to the boys for their excellent cooperation here in Kingston, and to all those who supported me during my two years as coach," Hatch continued.

Hatch came to Kingston as an assistant to Coach Ted Conwicke in 1943 and served as head baseball coach in 1944. The previously had been at South Glens Falls High where he gained a name for himself by turning out some strong gridiron teams. His last year there, 1942, saw South High cop the league title in football.

When Conwicke left for Endicott in 1944, the local Board of Education chose Hatch as his successor. His first year saw the Maroon and White team come up from the bottom of the pile to gain the respect of the entire DUSO League organization before the campaign was concluded. In 1945, Hatch was dubbed "the hard luck man of the league" by his rival coaches since his teams managed to win only one game while dropping so many close ones that were heartbreaking to Kingston fans.

Pete's coaching ability, however, did not go unrecognized, as Jimmy Freeman recommended to Ithaca's Board of Directors that Hatch was the man to be considered for the 1946 assistant grid job. Hatch is a graduate of Ithaca in the class of 1936, and will resume his new duties in the fall while serving as Kingston High baseball coach this spring.

Mulloy Is Upset By Schwartz in Tennis Tourney

Sidney Schwartz, 16-year-old Brooklyn high school boy, eliminated sixth-seeded Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., 12-10, 6-3, in the National Indoor tennis tournament yesterday at the spacious Seventh Regiment Armory on Park avenue at 66th street in New York city. In another match, Ed Jenkins of Clifton, N. J., gave the veteran Sidney Wood of New York some rough moments before the latter triumphed, 2-6, 6-0, 6-4, the Associated Press reported this morning.

The rest of the second singles round went according to form and the 16 survivors moved into the third round which was to be played today, along with opening matches in the doubles division.

Segura Advances

Third-seeded Pancho Segura, the two-fisted Ecuadorian, ousted Dr. Eugene McCauliff of New York, 6-2, 6-0, to move into the third round against J. Gilbert Hall, who stopped a fellow New Yorker, Linton Bradley, 6-1, 6-1.

Elwood Cooke of New York, seeded fourth, meets John Ager of Birmingham, Ala., who tripped Jan Staubo, former Norwegian star, 6-2, 6-4, and Wood takes on Ray Antignat of Forest Hills, N. Y.

Alejo Russell of Buenos Aires, top-seeded foreign player, tangles with Capt. Frank J. Bowden of Maplewood, N. J., Frank Guernsey of Garden City, N. J., faces Enrique Buse of Peru and Schwartz is slated to play August Ganzenmuller of Sea Cliff, N. Y., although this match may be postponed because of a death in Schwartz's family.

Ferrier Leading Seminole Tourney

Jimmy Demaret Posts 71 for Second Place

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Forty-one top-flight professional golfers teamed up today with 82 amateurs to compete for $11,260 in cash to be awarded at the seventh annual Seminole Club tournament.

In opening play of the 36-hole event yesterday, Jim Ferrier, of Chicago, former Australian champion, posted a two under par 70 to lead the field. Only other golfer to break par was Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Tex., who shot a 71.

Sammy Byrd, Detroit; Ellsworth Vines, Chicago, and Denny Shute, Akron, O., tied with par 72's.

Byron Nelson, of Toledo, O., was far back with a 77.

Scores registered for both rounds will count in determining the winners of the $11,260 in cash. Amateurs will be awarded trophies.

Bowling

Independent League

The Stone Ridge Firemen, who were riding high in the Independent Bowling League a few weeks ago, were but a single game in the lead today after losing three games to Vogel's Dairy at the Central Rec Alleys, Monday night. Charlie Grunenwald again was the big gun for the Dairymen, putting a pair of 204's together with a 185 for a 593 triple. The third game of the match ended in a deadlock to give the Firemen hope for one game but the Dairymen were not to be defeated and won by a few pins.

Martin's Market took a better hold on third place by trimming Callanan's three. Ray Roux shot a 627 triple, mixing a 178 middle game with a pair of 200's. Jack Hartman's 237 single was high in that department.

Cole's Market trimmed Wilber's Coal two out of three, with Eddie Oughletree rolling a 212 single and a 537 triple.

The [illegible] of the Port Ewen represen[illegible]ves went to Harry Jump's crew, who took two from Beichert's Studebaker's. Rudy Kubicek of the losers tried hard to win for Beichert's, but to no avail. He rolled 211, 176 and 221 for a 608 triple.

Kaslich Predicts Big Sport Boom for City This Summer

Rec Official Sees Return to Prewar Form for Baseball; Praises Returning GIs

One of Kingston's most ardent sportsmen was visited Monday afternoon by a Freeman representative and voiced the opinion that the coming spring, summer and winter months should find one of the biggest sport booms this old Colonial City has ever experienced.

The gent referred to is Nick Kaslich, proprietor of the uptown billiards and pool parlor who so very often is on the sidelines rooting teams to victory whether on the hardwood floors of a basketball game, a sultry baseball field or a windswept football field.

Nick was busily engaged in restoring a billiard table to action Monday afternoon. That's just like Nick as everyone knows. He knows his sports in and out and whether it's a pool table or anything else, his background on sports makes him eligible to do that subject justice with a capital J.

On Rec Committee

During the last few seasons, which date back before the start of World War 2 Nick has served as one of the most able committee members of the Kingston Recreations. He's held that post both during the baseball and basketball campaigns. He was one of the men largely responsible for keeping the great national pastime alive during the lean war years.

So it was with interest when the interview with Kaslich was started Monday. "This year should be one of the greatest for Kingston," Nick replied when asked just what he thought about the diamond season which will soon be here.

"We kept baseball going during the war," he continued, "but it had to be accomplished on a small basis, but now that the players are coming back in droves, well, 1946 should be an interesting one for fans and players alike."

Nick was confident 1946 would see a lot of good baseball being played at the municipal stadium when the Kingston Recreations open their home season. Although the popular sportsman predicted great things for the Rec club this summer he refrained from delving into the official makeup of the local team for the year. "A lot of news will be popping soon," Kaslich told the interviewer, "but for the present time I'd rather not go into the matter any further."

No Tourneys Planned

Getting away from the diamond sport for awhile, Nick was quizzed on his own personal sport which he conducts at his uptown emporium—that of billiards and pool. Nick has popularized that sport as local followers will attest without any dissenting votes.

Kaslich admitted it was too late in the season to do much about sponsoring any billiard tournaments for his uptown hall but said with all of the former servicemen coming back to Kingston he would do his best to arrange a few such competitive meets next fall. Kaslich declared however, "if I learn of any well-known billiard aces who are touring the country and who will come to Kingston, you can be sure I'll bring them here."

"It's a wonderful feeling," Nick said, "to see all of the boys coming back from the war. We missed every one more than it will ever be known and to have them back with us is the biggest award we could ask for."

At this point in the interview the quizzer allowed Nick Kaslich to return to his job of fixing that billiard table and in turn, made his way for home.

P.G.A. Schedules 45 Tourneys for Members This Year

Miami, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The Professional Golfers Association, through tournament manager Fred Corcoran, announced today that its members will compete in 45 tournaments this spring and summer for more than $500,000 in cash prize money. Twenty-one of the tournaments scheduled were listed.

The schedule will open in Houston, Tex., May 9-12 with an invitational affair and will continue through the first of November.

Highlighting the list are the United States Open which will be played at the Canterbury Club in Cleveland, Ohio, June 13-15, and the Professional Golfers Association championship, to be held at the Portland, Ore., golf club, August 12-25.

The largest purse, amounting to $45,000, will be carried by the Tam O'Shanter tournament, to be played at the Chicago Tam O'Shanter Club July 22-28. The golfers will come to New York May 30 to June 2 for the Goodall Round Robin invitational, worth $10,000.

Farmers Nose Out Saugerties, 42-40 For 14th Straight

Victors Stage Deciding Rally in Closing Minutes of Game; Garrison Gets 19 Points

The Kerhonkson Farmers ran into their toughest night of the 1945-46 basketball season last Saturday night and on the strength of a last minute spurt, they managed to come through with a 42 to 40 victory over the Saugerties American Legion quintet. It was Kerhonkson's 14th straight triumph of the year.

Saugerties slammed into Kerhonkson by taking a 27 to 21 lead in the first two periods of play and it appeared as though the great streak of the Farmers was close to an end. Kerhonkson rallied however in the waning minutes of the ball game to turn in one of the best victories of the campaign.

Garrison, forward for Saugerties, came off the court with high scoring honors on his 19 points. S. Decker and Don Schoonmaker were high for the winners with 10 apiece.

MexicanLoopHead Is Ready to Fight OrganizedBaseball

Mexico City, March 12 (AP) — Mexican League President Jorge Pasquel said today he would accept U. S. Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler's proposal for a U. S.-Cuba-Mexico baseball pact provided his circut gets big league treatment.

Commenting on Chandler's suggestion, made in Havana Sunday, Pasquel said, "If they want to make an agreement giving us treatment like the really big league we are, we're ready to enter into it. Otherwise we are ready to give them a terrific fight they never expected to have."

Pasquel asserted there is $50,000 in cash in advance awaiting Bob Feller, Cleveland's ace pitcher if the Van Meter, Ia., strikeout wizard signs a three year contract to play here.

"Even Feller doesn't know yet about that part of our offer to him," the Mexican League prexy said. Feller previously had turned down an offer to hurl in the Mexican League at a salary of $100,000 a year for the next three years.

In Havana, Bernardo Pasquel, peppery Mexican magnate and brother of Jorge, took a more uncompromising attitude, and announced:

"If the U. S. baseball officials want a baseball war, they will have it."

In The Pocket

CHARLIE TIANO

Andy Varipapa and Tony Sparando had just whipped the tional match kingpin, Joe Wilman, and Junie McMahon, Chica Classic League ace by 399 pins in a 24-game duel under the stiff conditions ever witnessed by the writer.

McMahon, who has rolled 14 perfect scores of 300 and shou know his bowling, pointed to Tony Sparando and said: "Ther one of the greatest pocket hitters in bowling today."

Such a magnificent tribute from a topnotcher like McMah must have some foundation. So, we proceeded to analyze Spara do's performance. In 240 frames, he missed the pocket only fo times and crossed twice. You can't do much better with a bon sight.

The match in review: Kingston fans will see a beautiful stylist in Sparando this week-end. The New Yorkers opened up a 272-pin gap in the first block and were never headed. The coup de grace was Varipapa's 259 opener. Wilman led off with 220 but tailed off quickly.

The national match game king looks like a deacon. He is poetry in motion and pounds the pocket with uncanny precision. Wilman "holds" an alley once he finds it. His footwork is faultless. Joe's ball isn't as flashy as Varipapa's or McMahon's, but it has terrific topspin and and piles up the maples on light hits.

Sparando reeled off nine in a row in the second game of the third block. The first nine shots were squarely in the 1-3, but the Woodside star faltered on the tenth heave. He rolled 264 with a miss in the final block.

Varipapa has probably the most potent hook in the game today, but he misses more spares than any of the big-timers. He shot two series of 1300, while Sparando had a 1306. Wilman's best were 243 and 1253, while McMahon majored with 267 and 1211. The New Yorkers won three of the four blocks.

Conditions were tough. The teams rolled across eight alleys, jumping alleys after each game, and firing against 3 lb. 7 oz. wood on highly glossed lanes. In spite of this the first 8-10 "pocket split" didn't bob up until the 48th game and Wilman drew it. He later got another one.

Varipapa was a magnificent host after the match at his Hempstead grill. He entertained a Cuban delegation which made him a fabulous offer to roll a series of exhibitions. Mamma Varipapa is definitely opposed to the idea. Andy has two lovely daughters and a strapping son.

Willie Hoppe, the billiard champion, was an interested spectator. Hoppe never misses the big matches—but seldom rolls a game . . . bad for his delicate billiard hands. . . . He still picks Mort Lindsey as the most colorful bowler in history. Sparando left the 1-2-7-8-10. Wilman and McMahon missed the 4-pin in succession. The singles champ also blooped the 7 and 10 pins, proving that even the bowling gods have their weak moments.

Wilman bowls from a deep crouch, while Varipapa, Sparando and McMahon are standup bowlers. Bill Landgraf, Metropolitan Association executive, making the rounds and corraling entries for his $1500 sweeper. Freddie Voelpel, former Long Island champion, trying to cook up a match with Ferraro, Varipapa enlivened the series by converting the 4-7-10 split. The aces polished off the "baby split" and 5-10 like ordinary shots.

Joe Wilman gave us his definite promise that he would appear in Kingston this spring, if he is able to arrange his schedule accordingly. It was a great show and Kingston will have its own extravaganza this week-end.

Better Bowling

BALL DROPP
SWING BALL STRAIGHT BACK!

THE SIDE ARM: It require only a few practice shots to co rect a bowler who had been in th game for 40 years and had su denly lost his swing.

The trouble was a side-arm which is a common failing. Sid arming is swinging the ball ou side the "arc." Instead of goin back in a straight line, the arm assumes a circular motion whic causes one of two things: (1) Th swing stops short so that the bal is either dropped on or behind th foul line; (2) When an attempt i made to counteract the shor swing by "hanging onto the bal longer" the inevitable result is a cross-over or Brooklyn hit, the bal finishing on the left side of the headpin. Such a delivery is ineffective.

These changes, and getting him to stand more upright, which he admitted he had done when he was bowling well, brought him quickly back into stride. Pushing the ball out in front of him immediately caused the arm to swing STRAIGHT back, and his forward swing was such that his delivery was over the foul line—and accurate. The push-away did the trick. It gave him a swinging ball, in place of carrying it.

St. Joseph's Takes City Cage Crown By Winning, 47-23

Second Local Crown Won by Main Street Five; Bill Glaser Sparks Victors With 17

St. Joseph's copped the City Church League title last night at the M.J.M. gym when they defeated Agudas Achim by a 47-23 score. This is the second local championship won by the Main street five since they captured the county C.Y.O. title a few weeks ago.

St. Joseph's finished the season with the best record of all the city churches. Winning nine games, against one setback in the church loop, the Main street quintet had a total of 15 wins while dropping two. The two defeats came at the hands of St. Mark's of Kingston 49-47 in an overtime church league game, and St. Mary's of Poughkeepsie 39-34 in the regional C.Y.O. playoff.

Bill Glaser returned to St. Joseph's lineup last night after an absence of nearly three weeks and proved that he had lost none of his good form as he tossed 17 points through the hoop to cop scoring honors for the evening. Frank Ebelheiser was next in line with 14 while Frank Dolan made 12 of the Main street five's points. For Agudas Achim, Eddie Spiesman was high with 12 markers.

The other church loop game last night was a real thriller as the Immaculate Conception edged out the Comforter 36-35. It was Beaver McCardle that sank the winning deuce for the White Eagles. McCardle was high for the winners with 17 points. Ken Lowe topped the Comforters with 16 points.

Kentucky Favored To Win National Court Tournament

Bowling Green and Rhode Island Open Play on the Garden Court Thursday Night

New York, March 12 (AP)—Kentucky's classy quintet was favored today to win the National Invitational Basketball Tourney which opens Thursday night when Bowling Green of Ohio, last year's runner-up, opposes Rhode Island State, semi-finalist in 1945, in the first game of the first round of the eight-team competition at Madison Square Garden.

The second contest will pit St. John's University, a contestant for the fourth straight year, against West Virginia.

These pairings were announced yesterday by Asa Bushnell, chairman of the selection committee which picked the teams. The second half of the first round will be played Saturday with top-seeded Kentucky, Southeastern Conference champion, meeting Arizona, Border Conference king, and Syracuse clashing with Muhlenberg.

Seeded behind the Wildcats, who won 25 of their 27 games, were Bowling Green (27-4), Syracuse (23-3) and West Virginia (22-2). St. John's (16-5), Muhlenberg (22-4), Rhode Island (18-2) and Arizona (25-4) ranked next in order. The Mules of Allentown, Pa., dropped their fourth contest last night when they were beaten 59-58 in overtime by Lafayette in the Middle Atlantic Conference championship playoff.

Semis Next Monday

The semi-finals are scheduled for Monday, 18, when the first and fourth game winners and the second and third games winners meet. The final and third place playoff will be held Wednesday, March 20.

The eastern pairings of the N.C.A.A., which begins at the Garden March 21, also were announced. Harvard (19-1) was picked to oppose Ohio State, Big Ten champion, in the opener with New York University (18-2) meeting North Carolina (28-4) in a return engagement. The Tarheels nosed out the Gotham five 43-41 in a regular season game. The Buckeyes have won 14 and lost four.

The winners will clash in the regional final March 23 for the right to meet the Western N.C.A.A. champions, determined in a similar tourney at Kansas City, in the Garden March 26 for the crown held by Oklahoma A. & M.

Baseball Briefs

Miami, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants named lefthanded pitchers Dave Koslo and Warren Sandel to oppose the Brooklyn Dodgers today in an attempt to make it two straight over Leo Durocher's men. Ott was concerned over outfielder Babe Young's injured right thumb which refuses to yield to treatment.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers 5-4 defeat by the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday was softened by the fine work of pitcher Hal Gregg. The big righthander gave up but one hit in three scoreless innings and faced only nine batters.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Charley Keller, New York Yankee outfielder, was enjoying a 14-game hitting streak today following the Bronx Bombers third straight victory over the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday, 7-4.

Tampa, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Fireman Joe Beggs, relief pitcher extraordinary, is slated for starting assignments with the Cincinnati Reds. Beggs set the Detroit Tigers down in order Saturday as the Reds won their first exhibition game 3-1. "He'll be one of my starting pitchers," said Manager Bill McKechnie.

West Palm, Beach, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Vernon Benson, a 21-year-old outfielder, is putting smiles on Connie Mack's face. The Philadelphia Athletics' manager says Benson—once an infielder—"may be the man we're looking for." He has a good arm, is fast and can hit. He played with the Salsbury (Md.) Club in 1943 before going into the service.

Wyrostek Comes Through

Miami Beach, Fla., March 12 (AP)—John Wyrostek, a rookie outfielder purchased from the St. Louis Cards, was the talk of the Philadelphia Phils training camp today. His single with two men on in the ninth brought home the winning run in the Phils 5-4 conquest of Brooklyn yesterday.

Anaheim, Calif., March 12 (AP)—General Manager Bill DeWitt said yesterday he was sending a new St. Louis Browns contract to holdout Vernon Stephens. He said the disgruntled shortstop was not for sale and "he will play with the Browns or remain idle in so far as organized baseball is concerned."

Avalon, Calif., March 12 (AP)—Manager Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs says he will have a varsity lineup ready for the National League Champions' exhibition tour before the club moves from this island base to the mainland Wednesday.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are assured a fair-sized gallery for each of their exhibition games in Florida if they play only to the scouts of opposing National League Clubs.

They say it is the first time the talent hunters ever have descended in such numbers on an individual Big League outfit. Usually at this time of year ivory merchants either are keeping a paternal eye on their own "finds," or gum-shoeing around the Minor League training camps.

This year, however, they can operate with a singleness of purpose. They know the Cards will be forced to begin selling soon. And it is the scouts' duty to keep their owners and managers advised when Breadon mounts his auctioneer's rostrum.

Albany, Murray Named Co-Captains For Past Campaign

Usual K.H.S. Custom Is Carried Out by Naming of Leaders at End of Court Season

Relying on the usual Kingston High School custom, Tony Albany and "Red" Murray, members of the famous "Big Three" line, were elected co-captains of the past 1945-46 basketball season Monday afternoon after a two ballot vote. Every year Coach G. Warren Kias selects a captain for each particular game.

Prior to election Monday, Coach Kias addressed the group and congratulated the quintet on the successful season. "You fellows certainly did a fine job," the Maroon mentor stated, "for it's not easy to come out night after night to practice, especially for you fellows who didn't play very often. You subs had a great deal to do with the development of this pennant-winning team, too, and I'm counting on you for next year. Remember some of the boys on this year's varsity were in the same boat last year."

Bout Is Canceled

New York, March 12 (AP)—The return meeting between Tami Mauriello, New York heavyweight, and Joe Baksi, the Kulpmont (Pa.), clouter at Madison Square Garden Friday night has been cancelled for the second time because the Pennsylvanian suffered an elbow injury. Baksi appeared at the State Athletic Commission for his customary preliminary checkup yesterday and complained of a pain in his right arm. X-ray pictures showed a chipped bone in his elbow.

Presbyterians Hear About Army Education

The U. S. Army's program of education for the man who enlists was explained in detail by Captain Harry Smith, local army recruiter, Monday evening when he addressed the Men's Club of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Captain Smith, who served with the air force in the Pacific campaign, gave an interesting talk as to the benefits provided for the men enlisting for service, and said that he had on file in his office in the Central Post Office building a list of 400 specialized jobs that a recruit could select from.

He emphasized the need of men in the army at the present time, and pointed out that in Kingston only 4 per cent of the quota assigned to the city had enlisted.

For the past several months the army authorities have been carrying on an extensive campaign of advertising calling attention to the educational program which is now a part of the new army program.

The new army being formed is primarily an army of specialists, he said, and boys who have graduated from high school are afforded the best opportunities in the service. In fact, he said a high school education was almost imperative.

A social hour and refreshments followed the address of Captain Smith.

The club decided to extend an invitation to the Woman's Service Club and their husbands to be the guests of the Men's Club at the April meeting.

May Impose Deadline On Bretton Woods Bank

Savannah, March 12 (AP)—Russia and other Bretton Woods signatories who have been dilatory about entering the world bank and fund may be granted only six months in which to join the global lending and currency stabilizing agencies.

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson, chairman of the Boards of Governors of the twin institutions, told a reporter that the Membership Committee of the International Monetary Conference on Wilmington Island near here probably would set such a deadline.

After that time, even countries which signed the 1944 agreements creating the $9,100,000,000 bank and $8,800,000 fund, would have to seek admission as new applicants.

This would subject them to entry on terms and conditions imposed by the governing boards, in which the present "Big Five"—the U. S. Britain, China, France and India—dominate the voting.

Farmers Need Help Too, Leader Says

Only Relief for American Growers Can Guarantee Succor for World

Chicago, March 12 (AP)—D. T. Carlson, president of the American Dairy Association, said today there must be immediate government policies "to help the American farmer save the world from starvation" in what he termed "the most critical food situation in the history of the modern world."

"The world looks to America for salvation from famine," Carlson told A.D.A. directors in a prepared address, "and sees a nation whose milk output is dwindling; whose cows are being forced into slaughter-houses; whose sons are leaving the soil—and whose farmers are promised only more of the same kind of thinking that brought this tragedy about.

"Certainly we must share the American food that is now in such short supply. But just as certainly we must end once and for all the twisted philosophy of sharing scarcity that has caused these shortages."

The dairy leader asserted American farmers cannot meet goals of dairy production under current government policies. He emphasized the "gravity of the milk-production crisis," and said:

"Farmers don't have feed. They don't have labor. Price discrimination has driven thousands of farmers out of dairying altogether."

British Withdrawal From Palestine Urged As Peace Medium

Jerusalem, March 12 (AP)—Jamal Effendi Husseini, chairman of the Palestine Arab Party, declared today that the only solution to the problem of Palestine was "establishment of an independent sovereign Arab state" guaranteeing democratic rights to all citizens.

Husseini testified for three hours before the "British-American Committee Investigating Palestine. He spoke for the Arab higher committee, but told the investigators that the Grand Mufti, "who was fighting the British during the war," was the Arabs' first leader, for whom they could accept no substitute.

The Grand Muti, Amin Effendi Al Husseini, was arrested by the French last year and has been reported held in Paris. Jamal Effendi Husseini himself returned to Palestine only five weeks ago after years in exile.

The witness declared that unless some "just solution" could be found, British troops and police should be withdrawn to allow the Arabs and the Jews to settle the matter by themselves. He said he believed that if this were done many "Zionists hotheads" would realize they had lost all hope of attaining a Jewish state and would leave Palestine "of their own free will." He said the remaining Arabs and Jews would then settle down peacefully.

Building Plans High In State for January

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—A total of 5,943 building plans representing estimated costs of $40,964,000—highest for January since 1938 — were filed during that month with the State Labor Department.

Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi said today that 44 per cent of the plans were for residential construction, 33 per cent for industrial, commercial and public structures and 23 per cent for alterations and installations.

Corsi also reported that employment and payrolls in retail stores decreased 17 per cent and 12.9 per cent, respectively, from December to January but that the reductions were less than the usual seasonal drop.

A certain top-rank Air Forces general made a guest inspection of a Naval Air Base. Invited to try out a new flying boat, he undertook to pilot it himself. All went well until the general circled a nearby field for a landing. The Commander, whose guest he was, was stalled with protocol but had to do something.

Commander (in his politest tone) — General, wouldn't it be better to land a flying boat in the water?

General (reddening)—Of course, Commander, what was I thinking of?

He made a safe water landing, and rising from the wheel remarked:

General—I want to thank you, Commander, for the tactful way you called my attention to my incredible blunder.

Upon saying this, the star-studded General opened the cabin door and calmly stepped into the bay!

As old age comes on you are amazed at how little you really know.

Two tramps hailed before a police judge charged with vagrancy. In the course of the testimony the following evidence is brought out:

Judge—Where do you live?

First Tramp—Nowhere, your honor.

Judge (to other tramp)—And where do you live?

Second Tramp—I've got the room above him.

Hope!

Most of us are blessed with the ability and imagination to see the clear blue of the heavens beyond the darkest clouds.

Were it not for this Divine Gift, it would indeed be difficult for mankind to survive the storms and strife that comes into his daily life.

Sometimes, in fact more than often, optimism is as much a pose as is pessimism.

No one can continuously maintain an attitude of cheerfulness — the "Pollyanna" type of individual is to be avoided as much as the chronic fault-finder.

But the cheerful personality attracts friendships because real cheerfulness has its roots in an abiding faith of the ultimate squareness of things.

Nothing can very much harm the person who sincerely believes in the ultimate survival of right.

Next to the inner belief in the survival of right is the God-given gift of helping others to be hopeful.

To paraphrase an expression of the beloved Lincoln—"that man has served who has plucked a doubt and planted a hope wherever he thought a hope would grow."

Hope springs eternal in the human breast and the person who has the knack of developing hope in another's mind is doing the Master's bidding of: "Love thy neighbor."

The beautiful and the good are permanent . . . all else is a passing cloud. . . .

And In Conclusion—

As we go through life,
Each one of us learns
That we never get dizzy
Doing good turns.
—Mrs. F. Raymond McMillan

A kind-hearted minister asked a man in jail how he happened to be there. The fellow said, with tears in his eyes, that he was coming home from prayer meeting, and sat down to rest, fell asleep, and while he was asleep there the county built the jail around him, and when he awoke the jailer wouldn't let him out.

Goering Opposed 1934 Nazi Purge

So Former Secretary Tells Nuernberg Tribunal Is Defense of Old Boss

Nuerenberg, March 12 (AP)—Paul Koerner, intimate of Hermann Goering since 1926, told the International Military Tribunal today the former Reichsmarshal intervened against the Nazi Party purge 12 years ago and that he created concentration camps only to "re-educate" enemies of the state.

Koerner was Goering's secretary for many years and once was Secretary of State for Prussia. He testified that when the purge was carried out in 1934 Goering "went at once to the Fuehrer and told him innocent people were being killed and it must be stopped and it was."

He said Goering founded the concentration camps, but turned them over to Heinrich Himmler in 1934 on Hitler's orders. Goering also attempted to stop a Jewish program in 1938, Koerner testified.

Col. Berndt Von Brauchitsch, son of Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch and former adjutant to Goering, testified he considered Hitler's prescribing lynch law for downed Allied fliers justified, but that the orders was not enforced by the German air force.

The Tribunal granted defendant Franz Von Papen the right to submit to King Gustaf V of Sweden questions relative to the former Nazi diplomat's claim that he repeatedly sought the monarch's intervention in the case of European peace.

Although the Tribunal has no direct means to compel any person outside Germany to answer an interrogatory, belief was expressed here that King Gustaf would accede.

It is expected that the sale of the ferryboat will be consumated this month.

Bradley Seeks Break For Retired Officers

Washington, March 12 (AP) — General Omar N. Bradley today asked Congress to liberalize provisions for employment of retired officers so the Veterans Administration can fill its need for men trained in managing hospitals and offices.

Testifying before the House Military Committee, Bradley noted that those retired for age or length of service and entitled to $2,500 a year retirement pay could not be taken on by his agency. He advocated a pending bill which he said would permit them to accept.

They would not draw retired pay in an administration job paying $3,000 or more, he explained.

Above-Water Phase of Bikini Tests May Prove Big Flop

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Atom bombardiers say the first act of the Bikini tests this spring may be a dramatic flop.

The big target fleet may show little real damage.

But the men who'll touch it off suggest the explosion above the array of warships will demonstrate the dreadful versatility of the atomic bomb.

It could, they say, kill or cripple entire crews of structurally intact vessels and thus prove to be an anti-personnel weapon of tremendous magnitude.

In a sense, the atomic bomb will be mis-used in the first of the three tests—a land weapon applied against a naval target. Studies predicated on results at Nagasaki and Hiroshima, where the bombs were exploded in mid-air as they will be in the first Bikini drop, indicate the possibility that few or perhaps none of the approximately 100 target ships may be sunk.

This may be especially true if the ships are anchored bow-on to the bomb burst, so that the streamline character of the hulls and super-structures let some of the blast slide past.

The first test will specialize on an analysis of radiant energy produced by the bomb burst—the instantaneous burning effect of heat in millions of degrees and the effects of short wave radiation which kills men. The other two tests, one with the bomb exploded at surface and the other underwater, will be essentially a test of the ships themselves.

City Firemen Are Kept Busy Monday

Kingston's fire department was kept busy Monday answering several alarms of fire, in addition to the fire in the roof at the Kingston Trust Co. on Main street.

Two grass fires, one on Augusta street and the other on Chapel street, were extinguished early in the afternoon.

At 4:27 p. m. the firemen responded to a call to 58 Hunter street where dust and lint on top of the dome of a pipeless heater had ignited. There was no fire damage, but considerable smoke.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last night the firemen were called to the Katz junk yard on lower Hasbrouck avenue, where a rubbish fire had broken out.

William Rittenhouse set up the first paper mill in America in 1690, near Philadelphia.

SHERIFF A BABY SITTER

Sheriff Robert B. Moir of Camden, N. J., took care of feeding seven-weeks-old Janet Seiner during the trial of Howard Auld, former paratrooper charged with murder in the V-J. Day slaying of Margaret Rita McDade, Philadelphia waitress. Janet's mother was called for duty on the jury trying Auld. (AP Wirephoto).

F.D.R.'s 'Old Side Kick' To Retire in Albany

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—James J. Mahoney, who during 33 years of state service was Assistant Secretary to seven governors and who the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt once termed "My old side kick," will retire Friday.

Mahoney, who began his career as a page boy in the executive offices, served former Governors William H. Sulzer, Martin H. Glynn, Charles S. Whitman, Nathan Miller, Alfred E. Smith, Roosevelt and Herbert H. Lehman.

For the past two years he has been secretary in the Conservation Department.

Roosevelt used the "side kick" term in autographing a picture he gave Mahoney.

Southampton Awaits 2nd Group G.I. Brides

Le Havre, March 12 (AP)—The second group of G.I. brides to leave Le Havre this month sails for Southampton, England, today aboard the S.S. Vulcania on the first lap of the trip to the United States.

The group, composed of 390 French, Belgian and Luxembourg wives and 36 babies, will be joined in Southampton by approximately 300 British brides of U. S. servicemen.

Two other ships are scheduled to leave Le Havre this month with war brides—the S.S. Zebulon Vance on March 19 and the S. S. Brazil March 24. Both will sail directly to New York.

Russians Explain Dilatory Tactics In Mukden Exodus

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, March 12 (AP)—Russian troops evacuating Mukden have insufficient transportation facilities to move directly to Soviet territory, consequently must make stopovers at Changchun, the Soviet chief of staff officially informed Chinese officials today.

A growing Chinese government force was reported in control of Mukden as the retiring Russians yielded barracks and factories of that Manchurian industrial center.

The Chinese government meantime prepared to dispatch truce teams to halt Chinese factional strife.

A Chinese Central News dispatch from Changchun, the Manchurian capital, reported that 104 hours after the evacuation, Gen. Tung Yen-Ping, head of the Chinese Military Mission in Manchuria, called on the Russian chief of staff and asked about the troop movements.

The Soviet officer replied that, inasmuch as the Chinese government had announced its readiness to take over garrison duties in Mukden, Soviet forces had begun to leave the city. He gave no indication how long they would stop in Changchun. Previous dispatches from that city said there was no indication their preparations were for temporary billeting.

Still another Chinese student "Quit Manchuria" demonstration against Russia was staged in Chungking today, 21st anniversary of the death of Sun Yat Sen, founder of the republic. About 4,000 participated. One of their banners read "Rise to Resist Encroachment."

Chinese Communist and government representatives and General Marshall, special U. S. envoy, agreed in principle yesterday that truce teams should visit Manchuria. Details are being worked out. Marshall left immediately for Washington to report to President Truman.

Officers Get Skunk

The police department received a telephone call yesterday for assistance in disposing of a skunk which had taken shelter under the garage on the grounds of St. Ursula Academy in Ponckhockie. Officers James Burns and Elbert Soper in one of the radio cars responded and shot the animal.

Approximately 160,000 people die of cancer every year.

Courthouse Is Being Painted and Renovated Inside

A spring house cleaning job which has been going on for some time at the Ulster county court house is nearing completion and when completed the entire building will be resplendent in new paint and varnish.

County Auditor and Purchasing Agent J. H. Heaton had the work started some time ago when work was commenced on the upper corridor walls and ceiling. This work completed, the remaining portions of the building looks so dingy that the work was continued until practically all offices have been redecorated. Workmen are now at work in the offices of the Board of Supervisors and the next job will be in the Purchasing Agents office and in the District Attorney's offices on the second floor. There the front portion of the present district attorney's suite will be altered and an office made for Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth who since his election to office has occupied offices in the Brinnier Building on John street. This building is shortly to be demolished to make room for an addition to the State of New York Bank.

In the redecorating program at the court house the entire upper floor will be redecorated, including the court room, supreme court library, justice's offices and the corridors as well as the grand jury room. On the ground floor County Judge John M. Cashin's offices have been completed as well as the sheriff's office, county treasurer's offices and the Supervisor's room. Walls have been done over in a green hued paint, ceilings are white and the woodwork has been revarnished.

France Spurs Bid For U. S. Support In Franco Ouster

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, March 12 (AP) — France is expected shortly to submit fresh evidence on Spain to this country in a renewed bid for American support in carrying the case against Generalissimo Franco to U.N.O.'s Security Council.

The original French proposal drew a formal rejection from the United States, which thereby broadened the split among the permanent Big Five members of the Security Council. Russia has sided with France in agreeing that the United Nations agency should be given a complaint against Franco, while the United States and Britain are opposed. China has taken no stand.

The incident is the latest in a long series involving Soviet-American relations and bringing to light sharp differences in their approaches to critical world problems.

On another of the diplomatic fronts involving the United States and Russia, the State Department yesterday made public a note denying Russian contentions that the United States was trying to play a lone hand in influencing the make-up of the Bulgarian government.

Also last night the Department released the text of its note to France on Spain. This communication, however, left the way open for reconsideration of the American position provided there is new evidence on which to base a case against Franco in the Security Council.

The French Case

First that with approximately 2,000,000 men under arms in Spain, Franco has the largest Army in relation to population of any country in Europe today, and

The French argue that these things are evidence of a menace of international peace and security.

The bulk of the American note was devoted to a rejection of the French bid for joint sponsorship in appealing to the Council, mainly on the ground that Franco does not represent a threat to international peace and it therefore is up to the Spanish people themselves to get rid of him.

The Soviet charge of American activity in Bulgaria came in the midst of a barrage of American criticisms of Soviet conduct in Iran and Manchuria.

In the Bulgarian case the United States took the position in a recent note to Sofia that the two opposition political leaders to be added to the government there should be given real authority and not be ministers in name only.

In response to Moscow complaints about this action, the note released by the State Department yesterday said that the United States had not broken an agreement made in Moscow last December and that it had informed the Russian government in February of its views on Bulgaria which later were presented to the Bulgarian government.

Kesselring Admits Guilt In Bombing of Warsaw

Nuernberg, Germany, March 12 (AP)—Field Marshal Albert Kesselring told the International Military Tribunal today that he was at least partly responsible for bombing of Warsaw, Rotterdam and Coventry.

The militarist, who opposed American troops in Italy and France, testified for Herman Goering, one of 22 Nazis on trial as war criminals.

"The bombs on Coventry landed perfectly," Kesselring said. "Sometimes a whole area must be considered as a target."

He said the British city was a "technical and industrial center" and that German planners called it a "Little Essen."

"I am very sorry as a soldier for 22 years if the attack on Rotterdam was not what it should have been," he testified, explaining he had heard the attack was made during the armistice negotiations. "But if this was the case—and I never was able to find out—it should be counted as an accident of war."

The Marshal said he commanded the air attack on Warsaw. He described the Polish capital as a fortress and asserted that "everything possible was done to hit only military targets."

He described the Luftwaffe, which Goering commanded, as "a defensive weapon."

Connally Calls For Big Three to Have Conference

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Senator Connally (D.-Tex.) called today for a new Big Three meeting to discuss "in language clear and plain and if need be, blunt," issues he said otherwise may blaze into world friction.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sounded an optimistic note on future relations with Russia—provided they are based on such plain speaking.

But he told his colleagues in a prepared address that Russia must understand that while she has the unchallenged right to maintain any form of government she wants, "these rights do not extend beyond her boundaries."

Connally called for maintenance by this country of "an adequate army, a superior navy and a superlative air force."

Materials Short For Building in Kingston Sector

that there was no oak flooring, a big item in the flooring demand. This same dealer said that overseas shipments from west coast yards, for better prices that can be obtained here, have much to do with lessening the home supply.

Another dealer, who said that he did not have enough lumber on his yard to build one house, being completely out of some materials, told of some recent experiences in attempting to meet requirements of his trade. Over a year ago, he said, I ordered a car of siding. It arrived recently, but instead of a car it was half a carload—and that was not what I ordered. He added that in February he ordered a pair of garage doors for a customer The reply came back that the doors would be shipped next August. Window frames, he said, particularly were out of the market.

Query as to where the lumber came from that was being used for occasional houses which had been noted under construction, brought the reply that probably it was native lumber.

There are probably a hundred people a day who come to our yard looking for lumber or other building supplies, said this same dealer. Perhaps they are lucky enough to find some one item, then they move on to seek elsewhere, hoping to find a part of their needs at another yard.

As to what was in sight, so far as betterment of the situation was concerned, the answer was, "nothing." The speaker said, "Your guess is as good as mine."

Allied Power to Pass On New Jap Constitution

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said today Japan's new constitution eventually will be submitted to the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission which is responsible for coordinating Allied policy on Japan.

That would give Russia, Britain and other interested powers an opportunity to pass upon the new basic charter designed to strip the Emperor of sovereign power and establish personal democratic liberties in Japan.

Byrnes was asked at a news conference whether the constitution announced March 6, has been submitted to any Allied power other than the United States which exercises, through Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme control in Japan.

It was not, Byrnes said, adding that it had been drawn up by the Japanese themselves in accordance with what he called their rights.

But he said that before it becomes effective, it will be placed before the Far Eastern Commission.

Less Wheat, Fats For Americans

rus fruit production was expected this season. But on the gloomy side, it asserted that no "end of the period of world scarcity of sugar" was indicated. It said the shortage may continue into 1947.

Plan More Shipping

Meanwhile, 18 member nations of the United Maritime Board, were getting ready to put into action a shipping agreement aimed at speeding the transport of food and other commodities to needy overseas areas. The pact, announced by the State Department, pledges the countries to meet U.N.R.R.A. shipping agreements.

Herbert Hoover, honorary chairman of the famine committee, was making plans to leave shortly for a new survey of food requirements in the needy European areas as representative of Mr. Truman, and may depart Sunday.

Offer Suggestions

In launching its call for food conservation and sharing, the Famine Committee, addressed offered suggestions to housewives, waiters, cooks, bakers, restaurant proprietors, and the like.

Housewives, for example, were urged to substitute potatoes for bread, to use oat cereals and fruits more often, and to save excess fats for cooking purposes.

Restaurants were told they could cooperate by serving only a single roll or slice of bread with a meal, instead of putting a basket of rolls or platter of bread on the table.

Food distributors could help, the committee said, by pushing the use of more plentiful foods prevailing, such as the present abundance of potatoes, fish, eggs, poultry, citrus fruits and seasonal vegetables.

Other suggestions included:

Buckwheat cakes instead of wheat cakes, broiled instead of fried fish (to save fats), substitution of fruit and other desserts for pastries, elimination of the use of toast for garnishing main dishes, and the temporary banishment of the three-decker layer-cake.

The committee laid special emphasis of the necessity for preventing waste throughout the campaign, for it declared that this country "still throws away the richest garbage in the world."

Twentieth Century Hears Papers on Canadian Territory

Twentieth Century Club met with Mrs. Mary Ingalls, 670 Broadway, Monday afternoon. The first paper for the afternoon on Canada's Awakening North was given by Mrs. C. B. Dickinson from material found in the book of the same name by Richard Phinney. She explained the development of the northern part of Canada where are found not only fur but gold, oil, copper, zinc and pitch blend. She spoke of the importance of the airplane in transporting people and supplies. Yellow Knife, a city 700 miles north of any other Canadian city is an example of a community that can be built in the region. In addition to the airplane, there are two different railways and four different routes have been suggested for a highway. Among the agricultural products is wheat. The tourist trade is most profitable.

Mrs. G. N. Wood gave the second paper by taking the members on an imaginary trip through the Rocky Mountains. Two railways practically divide the mountains. The entrance into the mountains is 4,200 feet high and the trip takes the tourists in view of many of the noted peaks of the Canadian Rockies. Among them are the Three sisters and Mt. Logan, the latter of which is 19,850 feet high. Mrs. Wood compared Lake Louise and Like Milan with their important resorts.

The next meeting will be held March [illegible] at the home of Miss Alice Scardefield.

Mrs. Heiselman Is Hostess To Sorosis Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Conrad J. Heiselman was hostess to Sorosis Monday afternoon at her home, 173 West Chestnut street. Current events reported included the remarkable effect of music in benefiting the mentally ill as cited in cases in a hospital in Michigan treating split personalities; the new anti-barnacle paint used on ships; the agricultural chemical "tufor"; and the origin of hot cross buns. These buns it was explained were not at first associated with Good Friday but rather with Easter. They were given to those who came a long distance to attend church on Easter Sunday. The custom originated in England. Mention was also made of the service at Middle Collegiate Church in New York city for the members of the Holland Society who died during 1945. One of the members was the late President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Heiselman gave the paper on "Ceramics." She defined her subject as something that is made of clay or non-metallic earth, and baked. She spoke of articles which could be classed in this category as vitreous composition for the sewer pipes, enamel and pottery ware. Tracing the history of ceramics from ancient times in China and the European countries, she noted that ceramics are known to almost every nation on the earth.

For training today she spoke of the state college at Alfred University which specializes in this art. She described some of the popular uses today such as figurines for decorating. Other ceramic products include bricks, glass, cement, lime and gypsum. Ceramics in America were rapidly developed in the South, Mrs. Heiselman noted, as the industry kept parallel with the whiskey business supplying the demand for containers.

She spoke of the four stages in the manufacture of ceramics: cleaning of clay; shaping and drying, baking and cooling; and glazing. Marking the differences between chinaware and pottery, she explained that china is translucent while pottery is opaque. In closing Mrs. Heiselman exhibited several pieces of ceramicware.

Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, 7 Mountain View avenue. Mrs. William J. McVey will give the paper on "Metal Crafts."

Bobs Are Back in Vogue At International Beauty Show

By VIVIAN BROWN

New York, March 12 (AP)—"Designs for peacetime living" is the keynote of the 1946 International Beauty Show.

But whether it will be peaceful living when pop seems mom in the new bobs reminiscent of the 20's is a hair of another color.

The general trend in hairdos displayed is the very short bob. There was a form fitting cap-like crown hairdo by Stanley, a short bob with waves at the sides brought over the ears by Harry Vogt and feather bobs with about a three-inch band of brushed-out curls going all around the head by John Hall. Bangs ranged from the short, soft, feathery waves to long bang-dip arrangements.

Beauty operators attending the convention couldn't quite make up their minds.

They applauded for long-hair enthusiasts as well as the short bobs. And among the lady operators, though many said they were for short bobs, few wore them.

Men hair stylists were divided in their opinions. Jonathan Somerville of New York doesn't like the short bob because he thinks in order to please the woman you've got to please their critics, the men. Besides he doesn't think women like it, either. He says: "It won't be as much fun for a woman to do her hair if it is short. She can't find as many styles to suit her and once it is cut, it is off for a long time."

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

WHEN FIRST NAME CALLING IS A PROBLEM

A question hard to answer, because it depends not only upon the feeling of the person in question but also upon those of her husband and other members of the parish, is explained in this letter: "Is it fitting or proper to call our pastor's wife by her first name? We all call each other by first names and when she is with us, it seems stiff to call her Mrs. B— because she is a friendly person although rather formal. However, she herself never has asked us to call her by first name. Some of the ladies feel that calling her 'Mary' would show her how we feel about her."

It seems to me that whichever one of you knows her best should ask her how she and her husband might feel about it. Take special notice of the reserve or the enthusiasm with which she answers and take your direction from this, rather than from what she says.

Silver Goblets

Dear Mr. Post: Are silver goblets and wine glasses in good taste and may they be used with china plates? In your latest edition, the table settings show only crystal glasses.

Anwer: This is merely because silver goblets are very unusual. Those who have them certainly may use them and they do not require matching silver plates.

Sending Flowers To One's Hostess

Dear Mr. Post: A friend is giving a lunch party in my honor. Is it customary at such a time to take a present to my hostess and if so, what should it be, and when should this be given to her?

Answer: It is never necessary to give anything at all. However, to send her some flowers would be very pleasing. They should be sent at least an hour before the meal so that there is plenty of time to have them arranged.

Engagement Announcements Possible

Dear Mrs. Post: Your book seems to disapprove of conventionally engraved announcements of an engagement. Does it mean it is against the rule to send out announcements?

Answer: Personally written notes are in very best taste. Formally engraved announcements never have been thoroughly accepted in America.

By ROBERT S. JOHANSON

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—An investigation of the "milk spread" was pledged today by the Ives Agricultural Commission while the group's Democratic minority labeled the commission's report a "whitewash" for "failure to take any decisive stand" on the issue.

The temporary commission on agriculture, headed by Assembly Republican Leader Irving M. Ives, in a majority report to the Legislature also proposed a probe of cooperatives, elimination of price ceilings on several products and continuation of federal food subsidies.

Senator Vincent R. Corrou, New Hartford, and Assemblyman Frank A. Emma, Utica, minority members of the 17-man body, declared the group was created last year "to forestall the popular demand for a real inquiry in the 'milk spread.'" They said the majority report "succeeded admirably in accomplishing this purpose and nothing else."

Ives told reporters the commission about May 1 would begin a study of the spread—the difference in price received by milk producers and paid by consumers. He asserted the Democratic statement "is obviously a case of dragging politics into this."

Governor Dewey, meanwhile, in a special message to the Legislature recommended passage of several bills, previously introduced, to carry out several of the commission's proposals.

In a 112-page report, the commission also advocated that:

2—The state lend increased assistance in soil conservation.

3—A program of converting abandoned farm land into forests and recreational areas be expanded and speeded.

4—Price differentials for higher fall production of milk be widened and that dairymen be acquainted "with the urgent need for more milk in the fall months."

Ex-Prisoner Teaches Jap Prince

By TOM LAMBERT

Tokyo, March 12 (AP)—An Englishman who has spent 21 years in Korea and Japan and was interned as an enemy alien during the war is now the tutor of Japan's Crown Prince Akihito.

Still a British subject despite the long absence from his native land, the educator, R. H. Blyth, is a devout Buddhist who teaches the Crown Prince English but is more interested in "humanizing" the Japanese people through is instruction of embryo diplomats.

Named recently by the Japanese Foreign Ministry to take charge of a school for future diplomats, he predicts that his students eventually will represent a people desirous of living peacefully with the balance of the world.

Blyth, 48, lived at Womstead, London, before coming to the Orient. Graduated from the University of London, he was approached by the Japanese with an offer of a teaching position at Keijo Imperial University in Korea.

Embraces Buddhist Faith

"At the time I was interetsed in going to India because I had become a Buddhist," Blyth said. "I didn't even know where Korea was. However there were few opportunities for teachers in India at that time, so I accepted."

Blyth said he embraced Buddhism because he was unable to reconcile his vegetarian views with beliefs which approve of killing animals for meat. After coming to the Orient he wrote a book "Zen in English Literature and the Oriental Classics." Zen is a Japanese term for one type of Buddhist.

After about 15 years in Korea, he came to Japan to teach English literature at the fourth high school in Kanazawa.

Blyth maintained his British citizenship, so the day after Pearl Harbor he was seized as an enemy alien and imprisoned at Kobe. His Japanese wife followed him to Kobe and their child was born there. He was held four years. Toward the end, some of the 120th American construction workers, captured at Guam, were in the same prison camp.

Americans Fine Men

"They were the first Americans I ever met and I must say they were fine men. The way they got along with one another—sometimes under appalling conditions—was remarkable.

"Camp treatment, now that I know how some of the other prisoners were treated, was quite good. Of course, the food gradually worsened and just before the war ended was very poor."

Going to Tokyo after the surrender, Blyth resumed teaching—this time at the Peers' School, which Akihito attends.

The prince "is getting and is going to get a democratic education," Blyth said. Akihito's course is comparable with that of an American sixth grade student. In addition, he receives about four hours of English instruction weekly from Blyth, who describes him as "amiable, charming."

Advises on Views

The pedagogue deems equally important with his teaching of the prince his role as councilor of the Imperial household, which he advises on American views and reactions to Japanese policies. He has "occasional discussions" with the Emperor but usually talks with the Imperial household minister.

Blyth lives in a large house several blocks from the Peers' School. He is handsome, about five feet 10 inches tall and has gray, wavy hair.

He met me in a small Japanese-style room in which were filled bookcases and a small coal stove. Atop his western style desk, draped with a Japanese scarf, was a cardboard carton which formerly contained American rations.

Upswing Is Noted In Ulster County Diphtheria Cases

Ulster county has had three cases of diphtheria during the past eight months according to Dr. Berwyn F. Mattison of the District State Health Office. In discussing the recent reports of increased diphtheria prevalence for upstate New York, he pointed out that we have had more diphtheria here in the past year than was reported in the ten year period from 1933 to 1943. With the exception of the twenty-eight cases, all comparably mild, in the city of Kingston during the epidemic of 1943-44 only two other cases had been reported since 1932.

Two of the three recent cases were apparently brought into the local community from army camps and it is thought that a great many new strains of the diphtheria germ are being thus introduced. This necessitates more attention than we have given in the past to protection against diphtheria by means of toxoid injections. These immunizing procedures are recommended during infancy between the sixth and ninth month and a reinforcing dose should always be given when the child enters school.

Diphtheria and its prevention will be the subject of the first of a series of Health Headline programs to be presented by the State Health Department and to be broadcast over Station WKNY each Wednesday at 9:45 a. m., starting on March 13.

Kenya Builds Business

Kenya, in Africa, sees good industrial prospects in two directions—for dehydration and for cracker making. The government built wartime plants to dehydrate vegetables and hopes to make the business pay in peacetime. A firm in Nairobi has started making crackers, using British machinery and native labor. Workers wear white coats and are rigidly inspected. Because butter and sugar are short there, as elsewhere, present output is only a half ton a day. The crackers are made to appeal to African as well as European taste.

HIS WEIGHT IN DIAMONDS

The Aga Khan, leader for 60 years of Ismaili Moslems, sits on one platform of a specially constructed scale at Bombay, while his weight is balanced by 243½ pounds of diamonds (center, foreground) in a ceremony marking his diamond jubilee of leadership. The cash value of the gems, borrowed for the occasion, was set at $2,200,000, will be donated by his followers to the Aga Khan who will use the money for charitable work. Tojo Benefactor Seeks Legislative Position

Harrisburg, Pa., March 12 (AP)—John A. Archinal, of Allentown, Pa., the former Army staff sergeant who gave his blood to save the life of ex-Premier Tojo of Japan last September, seeks the Democratic nomination for Pennsylvania's state House of Representatives.

The 39-year-old bartender filed his nomination petitions for the May 21 primary with the Elections Bureau yesterday.

Rich Haul Missed

A stack of banknotes which one of the clerks had covered with betting tickets, went unnoticed when two armed men robbed the office of Robert Kennedy, bookmaker, in Belfast, Northern Ireland. They got away with several bags of silver but the real "loot" was missed.

Hatch Is Appointed Assistant Grid Coach at Ithaca College

Maroon Mentor Has Served Local School for Two Years; Was Successor to Ted Conwicke

Kingston High School will be looking for a new football coach next fall as it was learned Monday that Coach Pete Hatch, Maroon and White gridiron mentor for the past two seasons, had accepted a coaching berth at Ithaca College. Hatch announced that he would serve as assistant football coach to Jimmy Freeman, present head coach at Ithaca, and would do "field duties" in basketball and baseball.

Thanks Local Backing

"This is really the best opportunity I've ever had," Coach Hatch told the press Monday when he learned of his new appointment, "and, although I would like to remain in Kingston long enough to give the Maroon school a winner, there's a big jump from coaching in high school to college. I want to express my thanks to the boys for their excellent cooperation here in Kingston, and to all those who supported me during my two years as coach," Hatch continued.

Hatch came to Kingston as an assistant to Coach Ted Conwicke in 1943 and served as head baseball coach in 1944. The previously had been at South Glens Falls High where he gained a name for himself by turning out some strong gridiron teams. His last year there, 1942, saw South High cop the league title in football.

When Conwicke left for Endicott in 1944, the local Board of Education chose Hatch as his successor. His first year saw the Maroon and White team come up from the bottom of the pile to gain the respect of the entire DUSO League organization before the campaign was concluded. In 1945, Hatch was dubbed "the hard luck man of the league" by his rival coaches since his teams managed to win only one game while dropping so many close ones that were heartbreaking to Kingston fans.

Pete's coaching ability, however, did not go unrecognized, as Jimmy Freeman recommended to Ithaca's Board of Directors that Hatch was the man to be considered for the 1946 assistant grid job. Hatch is a graduate of Ithaca in the class of 1936, and will resume his new duties in the fall while serving as Kingston High baseball coach this spring.

Mulloy Is Upset By Schwartz in Tennis Tourney

Sidney Schwartz, 16-year-old Brooklyn high school boy, eliminated sixth-seeded Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., 12-10, 6-3, in the National Indoor tennis tournament yesterday at the spacious Seventh Regiment Armory on Park avenue at 66th street in New York city. In another match, Ed Jenkins of Clifton, N. J., gave the veteran Sidney Wood of New York some rough moments before the latter triumphed, 2-6, 6-0, 6-4, the Associated Press reported this morning.

The rest of the second singles round went according to form and the 16 survivors moved into the third round which was to be played today, along with opening matches in the doubles division.

Top-seeded Billy Talbert of Wilmington, Del., plays Phil Hanna of New York while former Champion Don McNeill of Orange, N. J., conqueror of Brooklyn's Bill Gifford, 6-2, 6-2, meets Ladislav Hecht of New York, the former Czech Davis Cup star who eliminated Richard Shipp of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-2.

Segura Advances

Third-seeded Pancho Segura, the two-fisted Ecuadorian, ousted Dr. Eugene McCauliff of New York, 6-2, 6-0, to move into the third round against J. Gilbert Hall, who stopped a fellow New Yorker, Linton Bradley, 6-1, 6-1.

Elwood Cooke of New York, seeded fourth, meets John Ager of Birmingham, Ala., who tripped Jan Staubo, former Norwegian star, 6-2, 6-4, and Wood takes on [illegible] of Forest Hills, N. Y.

Alejo Russell of Buenos Aires, top-seeded foreign player, tangles with Capt. Frank J. Bowden of Maplewood, N. J. Frank Guernsey of Garden City, N. J., faces Enrique Buse of Peru and Schwartz is slated to play August Ganzenmuller of Sea Cliff, N. Y., although this match may be postponed because of a death in Schwartz's family.

Bowling

Independent League

The Stone Ridge Firemen, who were riding high in the Independent Bowling League a few weeks ago, were but a single game in the lead today after losing three games to Vogel's Dairy at the Central Rec Alleys, Monday night. Charlie Grunenwald again was the big gun for the Dairymen putting a pair of 204's together with a 185 for a 593 triple. The third game of the match ended in a deadlock to give the Firemen hope for one game but the Dairymen were not to be defeated and won by a few pins.

Martin's Market took a better hold on third place by trimming Callanan's three. Ray Roux shot a 627 triple, mixing a 178 middle game with a pair of 200's. Jack Hartman's 237 single was high in that department.

Cole's Market trimmed Wilber's Coal two out of three, with Eddie Oughletree rolling a 212 single and a 537 triple.

The [illegible] of the Port Ewen represe[illegible]ves went to Harry Jump's crew, who took two from Beichert's Studebakers. Rudy Kubicek of the losers tried hard to win for Beichert's, but to no avail. He rolled 211, 176 and 221 for a 608 triple.

Kaslich Predicts Big Sport Boom for City This Summer

Rec Official Sees Return to Prewar Form for Baseball; Praises Returning GIs

One of Kingston's most ardent sportsmen was visited Monday afternoon by a Freeman representative and voiced the opinion that the coming spring, summer and winter months should find one of the biggest sport booms this old Colonial City has ever experienced.

The gent referred to is Nick Kaslich, proprietor of the uptown billiards and pool parlor who so very often is on the sidelines rooting teams to victory whether on the hardwood floors of a basketball game, a sultry baseball field or a windswept football field.

Nick was busily engaged in restoring a billiard table to action Monday afternoon. That's just like Nick as everyone knows. He knows his sports in and out and whether it's a pool table or anything else, his background on sports makes him eligible to do that subject justice with a capital J.

On Rec Committee

During the last few seasons, which date back before the start of World War 2 Nick has served as one of the most able committee members of the Kingston Recreations. He's held that post both during the baseball and basketball campaigns. He was one of the men largely responsible for keeping the great national pastime alive during the lean war years.

So it was with interest when the interview with Kaslich was started Monday. "This year should be one of the greatest for Kingston," Nick replied when asked just what he thought about the diamond season which will soon be here.

"We kept baseball going during the war," he continued, "but it had to be accomplished on a small basis, but now that the players are coming back in droves, well, 1946 should be an interesting one for fans and players alike."

Nick was confident 1946 would see a lot of good baseball being played at the municipal stadium when the Kingston Recreations open their home season. Although the popular sportsman predicted great things for the Rec club this summer he refrained from delving into the official makeup of the local team for the year. "A lot of news will be popping soon," Kaslich told the interviewer, "but for the present time I'd rather not go into the matter any further."

No Tourneys Planned

Getting away from the diamond sport for awhile, Nick was quizzed on his own personal sport which he conducts at his uptown emporium—that of billiards and pool. Nick has popularized that sport as local followers will attest without any dissenting votes.

Kaslich admitted it was too late in the season to do much about sponsoring any billiard tournaments for his uptown hall but said with all of the former servicemen coming back to Kingston he would do his best to arrange a few such competitive meets next fall. Kaslich declared however, "if I learn of any well-known billiard aces who are touring the country and who will come to Kingston, you can be sure I'll bring them here."

"It's a wonderful feeling," Nick said, "to see all of the boys coming back from the war. We missed every one more than it will ever be known and to have them back with us is the biggest award we could ask for."

At this point in the interview the quizzer allowed Nick Kaslich to return to his job of fixing that billiard table and in turn, made his way for home.

Farmers Nose Out Saugerties, 42-40 For 14th Straight

Victors Stage Deciding Rally in Closing Minutes of Game; Garrison Gets 19 Points

The Kerhonkson Farmers ran into their toughest night of the 1945-46 basketball season last Saturday night and on the strength of a last minute spurt, they managed to come through with a 42 to 40 victory over the Saugerties American Legion quintet. It was Kerhonkson's 14th straight triumph of the year.

Saugerties slammed into Kerhonkson by taking a 27 to 21 lead in the first two periods of play and it appeared as though the great streak of the Farmers was close to an end. Kerhonkson rallied however in the waning minutes of the ball game to turn in one of the best victories of the campaign.

Garrison, forward for Saugerties, came off the court with high scoring honors on his 19 points. S. Decker and Don Schoonmaker were high for the winners with 10 apiece.

MexicanLoopHead Is Ready to Fight OrganizedBaseball

Mexico City, March 12 (AP) — Mexican League President Jorge Pasquel said today he would accept U. S. Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler's proposal for a U. S.-Cuba-Mexico baseball pact provided his circut gets big league treatment.

Commenting on Chandler's suggestion, made in Havana Sunday, Pasquel said, "If they want to make an agreement giving us treatment like the really big league we are, we're ready to enter into it. Otherwise we are ready to give them a terrific fight they never expected to have."

Pasquel asserted there is $50,000 in cash in advance awaiting Bob Feller, Cleveland's ace pitcher if the Van Meter, Ia., strikeout wizard signs a three year contract to play here.

"Even Feller doesn't know yet about that part of our offer to him," the Mexican League prexy said. Feller previously had turned down an offer to hurl in the Mexican League at a salary of $100,000 a year for the next three years.

In Havana, Bernardo Pasquel, peppery Mexican magnate and brother of Jorge, took a more uncompromising attitude, and announced:

In The Pocket

CHARLIE TIANO

Andy Varipapa and Tony Sparando had just whipped the national match kingpin, Joe Wilman, and Junie McMahon, Chicago Classic League ace by 399 pins in a 24-game duel under the stiffest conditions ever witnessed by the writer.

McMahon, who has rolled 14 perfect scores of 300 and should know his bowling, pointed to Tony Sparando and said: "There's one of the greatest pocket hitters in bowling today."

Such a magnificent tribute from a topnotcher like McMahon must have some foundation. So, we proceeded to analyze Sparando's performance. In 240 frames, he missed the pocket only four times and crossed twice. You can't do much better with a bomb-sight.

The match in review: Kingston fans will see a beautiful stylist in Sparando this week-end. The New Yorkers opened up a 272-pin gap in the first block and were never headed. The coup de grace was Varipapa's 259 opener. Wilman led off with 220 but tailed off quickly.

The national match game king looks like a deacon. He is poetry in motion and pounds the pocket with uncanny precision. Wilman "holds" an alley once he finds it. His footwork is faultless. Joe's ball isn't as flashy as Varipapa's or McMahon's, but it has terrific topspin and and piles up the maples on light hits.

Sparando reeled off nine in a row in the second game of the third block. The first nine shots were squarely in the 1-3, but the Woodside star faltered on the tenth heave. He rolled 264 with a miss in the final block.

Varipapa has probably the most potent hook in the game today, but he misses more spares than any of the big-timers. He shot two series of 1300, while Sparando had a 1306. Wilman's best were 243 and 1253, while McMahon majored with 267 and 1211. The New Yorkers won three of the four blocks.

Conditions were tough. The teams rolled across eight alleys, jumping alleys after each game, and firing against 3 lb. 7 oz. wood on highly glossed lanes. In spite of this the first 8-10 "pocket split" didn't bob up until the 48th game and Wilman drew it. He later got another one.

Varipapa was a magnificent host after the match at his Hempstead grill. He entertained a Cuban delegation which made him a fabulous offer to roll a series of exhibitions. Mamma Varipapa is definitely opposed to the idea. Andy has two lovely daughters and a strapping son.

Willie Hoppe, the billiard champion, was an interested spectator. Hoppe never misses the big matches—but seldom rolls a game . . . bad for his delicate billiard hands. . . . He still picks Mort Lindsey as the most colorful bowler in history. Sparando left the 1-2-7-8-10. Wilman and McMahon missed the 4-pin in succession. The singles champ also blooped the 7 and 10 pins, proving that even the bowling gods have their weak moments.

Wilman bowls from a deep crouch, while Varipapa, Sparando and McMahon are standup bowlers. Bill Landgraf, Metropolitan Association executive, making the rounds and corraling entries for his $1500 sweeper. Freddie Voelpel, former Long Island champion, trying to cook up a match with Ferraro. Varipapa enlivened the series by converting the 4-7-10 split. The aces polished off the "baby split" and 5-10 like ordinary shots.

Joe Wilman gave us his definite promise that he would appear in Kingston this spring, if he is able to arrange his schedule accordingly. It was a great show and Kingston will have its own extravaganza this week-end.

Better Bowling

By Billy Sixty

BALL DROPS
SWING BALL STRAIGHT BACK!

THE SIDE ARM: It required only a few practice shots to correct a bowler who had been in the game for 40 years and had suddenly lost his swing.

The trouble was a side-arm, which is a common failing. Side arming is swinging the ball outside the "arc." Instead of going back in a straight line, the arm assumes a circular motion which causes one of two things: (1) The swing stops short so that the ball is either dropped on or behind the foul line; (2) When an attempt is made to counteract the short swing by "hanging onto the ball longer" the inevitable result is a cross-over or Brooklyn hit, the ball finishing on the left side of the headpin. Such a delivery is ineffective.

These changes, and getting him to stand more upright, which he admitted he had done when he was bowling well, brought him quickly back into stride. Pushing the ball out in front of him immediately caused the arm to swing STRAIGHT back, and his forward swing was such that his delivery was over the foul line—and accurate. The push-away did the trick. It gave him a swinging ball in place of carrying it.

St. Joseph's Takes City Cage Crown By Winning, 47-23

Second Local Crown Won by Main Street Five; Bill Glaser Sparks Victors With 17

St. Joseph's copped the City Church League title last night at the M.J.M. gym when they defeated Agudas Achim by a 47-23 score. This is the second local championship won by the Main street five since they captured the county C.Y.O. title a few weeks ago.

St. Joseph's finished the season with the best record of all the city churches. Winning nine games, against one setback in the church loop, the Main street quintet had a total of 15 wins while dropping two. The two defeats came at the hands of St. Mark's of Kingston 49-47 in an overtime church league game, and St. Mary's of Poughkeepsie 39-34 in the regional C.Y.O. playoff.

Bill Glaser returned to St. Joseph's lineup last night after an absence of nearly three weeks and proved that he had lost none of his good form as he tossed 17 points through the hoop to cop scoring honors for the evening. Frank Ebelheiser was next in line with 14 while Frank Dolan made 12 of the Main street five's points. For Agudas Achim, Eddie Spiesman was high with 12 markers.

The other church loop game last night was a real thriller as the Immaculate Conception edged out the Comforter 36-35. It was Beaver McCardle that sank the winning deuce for the White Eagles. McCardle was high for the winners with 17 points. Ken Lowe topped the Comforters with 16 points.

Kentucky Favored To Win National Court Tournament

Bowling Green and Rhode Island Open Play on the Garden Court Thursday Night

New York, March 12 (AP)—Kentucky's classy quintet was favored today to win the National Invitational Basketball Tourney which opens Thursday night when Bowling Green of Ohio, last year's runner-up, opposes Rhode Island State, semi-finalist in 1945, in the first game of the first round of the eight-team competition at Madison Square Garden.

The second contest will pit St. John's University, a contestant for the fourth straight year, against West Virginia.

These pairings were announced yesterday by Asa Bushnell, chairman of the selection committee which picked the teams. The second half of the first round will be played Saturday with top-seeded Kentucky, Southeastern Conference champion, meeting Arizona, Border Conference king, and Syracuse clashing with Muhlenberg.

Seeded behind the Wildcats, who won 25 of their 27 games, were Bowling Green (27-4), Syracuse (23-3) and West Virginia (22-2). St. John's (16-5), Muhlenberg (22-4), Rhode Island (18-2) and Arizona (25-4) ranked next in order. The Mules of Allentown, Pa., dropped their fourth contest last night when they were beaten 59-58 in overtime by Lafayette in the Middle Atlantic Conference championship playoff.

Semis Next Monday

The semi-finals are scheduled for Monday, 18, when the first and fourth game winners and the second and third games winners meet. The final and third place playoff will be held Wednesday, March 20.

The eastern pairings of the N.C.A.A., which begins at the Garden March 21, also were announced. Harvard (19-1) was picked to oppose Ohio State, Big Ten champion, in the opener with New York University (18-2) meeting North Carolina (28-4) in a return engagement. The Tarheels nosed out the Gotham five 43-41 in a regular season game. The Buckeyes have won 14 and lost four.

The winners will clash in the regional final March 23 for the right to meet the Western N.C.A.A. champions, determined in a similar tourney at Kansas City, in the Garden March 26 for the crown held by Oklahoma A. & M.

Baseball Briefs

Miami, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants named lefthanded pitchers Dave Koslo and Warren Sandel to oppose the Brooklyn Dodgers today in an attempt to make it two straight over Leo Durocher's men. Ott was concerned over outfielder Babe Young's injured right thumb which refuses to yield to treatment.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers 5-4 defeat by the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday was softened by the fine work of pitcher Hal Gregg. The big righthander gave up but one hit in three scoreless innings and faced only nine batters.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Charley Keller, New York Yankee outfielder, was enjoying a 14-game hitting streak today following the Bronx Bombers third straight victory over the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday, 7-4.

Tampa, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Fireman Joe Beggs, relief pitcher extraordinary, is slated for starting assignments with the Cincinnati Reds. Beggs set the Detroit Tigers down in order Saturday as the Reds won their first exhibition game 3-1. "He'll be one of my starting pitchers," said Manager Bill McKechnie.

West Palm, Beach, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Vernon Benson, a 21-year-old outfielder, is putting smiles on Connie Mack's face. The Philadelphia Athletics' manager says Benson—once an infielder—"may be the man we're looking for." He has a good arm, is fast and can hit. He played with the Salsbury (Md.) Club in 1943 before going into the service.

Wyrostek Comes Through

Miami Beach, Fla., March 12 (AP)—John Wyrostek, a rookie outfielder purchased from the St. Louis Cards, was the talk of the Philadelphia Phils training camp today. His single with two men on in the ninth brought home the winning run in the Phils 5-4 conquest of Brooklyn yesterday.

Anaheim, Calif., March 12 (AP)—General Manager Bill DeWitt said yesterday he was sending a new St. Louis Browns contract to holdout Vernon Stephens. He said the disgruntled shortstop was not for sale and "he will play with the Browns or remain idle in so far as organized baseball is concerned."

Avalon, Calif., March 12 (AP)—Manager Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs says he will have a varsity lineup ready for the National League Champions' exhibition tour before the club moves from this island base to the mainland Wednesday.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 12 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals are assured a fair-sized gallery for each of their exhibition games in Florida if they play only to the scouts of opposing National League Clubs.

They say it is the first time the talent hunters ever have descended in such numbers on an individual Big League outfit. Usually at this time of year ivory merchants either are keeping a paternal eye on their own "finds," or gum-shoeing around the Minor League training camps.

This year, however, they can operate with a singleness of purpose. They know the Cards will be forced to begin selling soon. And it is the scouts' duty to keep their owners and managers advised when Breadon mounts his auctioneer's rostrum.

Albany, Murray Named Co-Captains For Past Campaign

Usual K.H.S. Custom Is Carried Out by Naming of Leaders at End of Court Season

Relying on the usual Kingston High School custom, Tony Albany and "Red" Murray, members of the famous "Big Three" line, were elected co-captains of the past 1945-46 basketball season Monday afternoon after a two ballot vote. Every year Coach G. Warren Kias selects a captain for each particular game.

Prior to election Monday, Coach Kias addressed the group and congratulated the quintet on the successful season. "You fellows certainly did a fine job," the Maroon mentor stated, "for it's not easy to come out night after night to practice, especially for you fellows who didn't play very often. You subs had a great deal to do with the development of this pennant-winning team, too, and I'm counting on you for next year. Remember some of the boys on this year's varsity were in the same boat last year."

Bout Is Canceled

New York, March 12 (AP)—The return meeting between Tami Mauriello, New York heavyweight, and Joe Baksi, the Kulpmont (Pa.), clouter at Madison Square Garden Friday night has been cancelled for the second time because the Pennsylvanian suffered an elbow injury. Baksi appeared at the State Athletic Commission for his customary preliminary checkup yesterday and complained of a pain in his right arm. X-ray pictures showed a chipped bone in his elbow.

Balikpapan grew from uncharted insignificance as a native village in 1891 to prime importance as a petroleum refining center in 1941.

TIGER SLIDE

Eddie Mayo, Detroit Tigers second baseman, started for second base after a clean hit in the fourth inning of an exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa, Fla., but changed his mind and was tagged out as he went head-first into the dirt at first base. Bert Haas, Reds' first baseman, got him. The Reds won, 3 to 1. (AP Wirephoto).

Presbyterians Hear About Army Education

The U. S. Army's program of education for the man who enlists was explained in detail by Captain Harry Smith, local army recruiter, Monday evening when he addressed the Men's Club of the Rondout Presbyterian Church.

Captain Smith, who served with the air force in the Pacific campaign, gave an interesting talk as to the benefits provided for the men enlisting for service, and said that he had on file in his office in the Central Post Office building a list of 400 specialized jobs that a recruit could select from.

He emphasized the need of men in the army at the present time, and pointed out that in Kingston only 4 per cent of the quota assigned to the city had enlisted.

For the past several months the army authorities have been carrying on an extensive campaign of advertising calling attention to the educational program which is now a part of the new army program.

The new army being formed is primarily an army of specialists, he said, and boys who have graduated from high school are afforded the best opportunities in the service. In fact, he said a high school education was almost imperative.

A social hour and refreshments followed the address of Captain Smith.

The club decided to extend an invitation to the Woman's Service Club and their husbands to be the guests of the Men's Club at the April meeting.

Monday Was Chilly Night in Kingston

Last night was another chilly one in Kingston with the official city thermometer registering a low of 21 degrees. It was two degrees colder than Sunday night in the city, when a low of 23 was recorded.

Temperatures yesterday ranged from a low of 23 degrees to a high of 40 during the afternoon.

Freezing temperatures prevailed throughout the early morning hours today with the official thermometer recording 31 degrees at 8:30.

May Impose Deadline On Bretton Woods Bank

Savannah, March 12 (AP)—Russia and other Bretton Woods signatories who have been dilatory about entering the world bank and fund may be granted only six months in which to join the global lending and currency stabilizing agencies.

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson, chairman of the Boards of Governors of the twin institutions, told a reporter that the Membership Committee of the International Monetary Conference on Wilmington Island near here probably would set such a deadline.

After that time, even countries which signed the 1944 agreements creating the $9,100,000,000 bank and $8,800,000 fund, would have to seek admission as new applicants.

This would subject them to entry on terms and conditions imposed by the governing boards, in which the present "Big Five"—the U. S. Britain, China, France and India—dominate the voting.

Farmers Need Help Too, Leader Says

Only Relief for American Growers Can Guarantee Succor for World

Chicago, March 12 (AP)—D. T. Carlson, president of the American Dairy Association, said today there must be immediate government policies "to help the American farmer save the world from starvation" in what he termed "the most critical food situation in the history of the modern world."

"The world looks to America for salvation from famine," Carlson told A.D.A. directors in a prepared address, "and sees a nation whose milk output is dwindling; whose cows are being forced into slaughter-houses; whose sons are leaving the soil—and whose farmers are promised only more of the same kind of thinking that brought this tragedy about.

"Certainly we must share the American food that is now in such short supply. But just as certainly we must end once and for all the twisted philosophy of sharing scarcity that has caused these shortages."

The dairy leader asserted American farmers cannot meet goals of dairy production under current government policies. He emphasized the "gravity of the milk-production crisis," and said:

"Farmers don't have feed. They don't have labor. Price discrimination has driven thousands of farmers out of dairying altogether."

British Withdrawal From Palestine Urged As Peace Medium

Jerusalem, March 12 (AP)—Jamal Effendi Husseini, chairman of the Palestine Arab Party, declared today that the only solution to the problem of Palestine was "establishment of an independent sovereign Arab state" guaranteeing democratic rights to all citizens.

Husseini testified for three hours before the "British-American Committee Investigating Palestine. He spoke for the Arab higher committee, but told the investigators that the Grand Mufti, "who was fighting the British during the war," was the Arabs' first leader, for whom they could accept no substitute.

The Grand Muti, Amin Effendi Al Husseini, was arrested by the French last year and has been reported held in Paris. Jamal Effendi Husseini himself returned to Palestine only five weeks ago after years in exile.

The witness declared that unless some "just solution" could be found, British troops and police should be withdrawn to allow the Arabs and the Jews to settle the matter by themselves. He said he believed that if this were done many "Zionists hotheads" would realize they had lost all hope of attaining a Jewish state and would leave Palestine "of their own free will." He said the remaining Arabs and Jews would then settle down peacefully.

Building Plans High In State for January

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—A total of 5,943 building plans representing estimated costs of $40,964,000—highest for January since 1938 — were filed during that month with the State Labor Department.

Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi said today that 44 per cent of the plans were for residential construction, 33 per cent for industrial, commercial and public structures and 23 per cent for alterations and installations.

Corsi also reported that employment and payrolls in retail stores decreased 17 per cent and 12.9 per cent, respectively, from December to January but that the reductions were less than the usual seasonal drop.

Goering Opposed 1934 Nazi Purge

So Former Secretary Tells Nuernberg Tribunal Is Defense of Old Boss

Nuerenberg, March 12 (AP)—Paul Koerner, intimate of Hermann Goering since 1926, told the International Military Tribunal today the former Reichsmarshal intervened against the Nazi Party purge 12 years ago and that he created concentration camps only to "re-educate" enemies of the state.

Koerner was Goering's secretary for many years and once was Secretary of State for Prussia. He testified that when the purge was carried out in 1934 Goering "went at once to the Fuehrer and told him innocent people were being killed and it must be stopped and it was."

He said Goering founded the concentration camps, but turned them over to Heinrich Himmler in 1934 on Hitler's orders. Goering also attempted to stop a Jewish program in 1938, Koerner testified.

Col. Berndt Von Brauchitsch, son of Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch and former adjutant to Goering, testified he considered Hitler's prescribing lynch law for downed Allied fliers justified, but that the orders was not enforced by the German air force.

The Tribunal granted defendant Franz Von Papen the right to submit to King Gustaf V of Sweden questions relative to the former Nazi diplomat's claim that he repeatedly sought the monarch's intervention in the case of European peace.

Although the Tribunal has no direct means to compel any person outside Germany to answer an interrogatory, belief was expressed here that King Gustaf would accede.

Senate Passes City Bridge Bill

both bridge and ferry, and various organizations, including the Grange of Dutchess county, adopted resolutions endorsing the Wicks-Hatfield bill.

All Approve

Throughout Ulster county only approval of the bill was expressed. The Common Council of Kingston, the Chamber of Commerce and various civic organizations of the city, went on record as approving the measure.

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors also adopted resolutions favoring the construction of the bridge.

Ferry in April

Ferry service between Kingston and Rhinecliff is expected to start about April 15.

The New York State Bridge Authority is now negotiating for the purchase of the ferryboat Richmond, which has been operating on the route between 125th street, New York city, and Edgewater, N. J.

It is expected that the sale of the ferryboat will be consumated this month.

When the ferryboat is turned over to the Bridge Authority it will be entirely renovated and repainted, and gotten ready to start operating here the middle of April.

The price to be paid for the ferry will be approximately $175,000, it has been reported unofficially.

Bradley Seeks Break For Retired Officers

Washington, March 12 (AP)—General Omar N. Bradley today asked Congress to liberalize provisions for employment of retired officers so the Veterans Administration can fill its need for men trained in managing hospitals and offices.

Testifying before the House Military Committee, Bradley noted that those retired for age or length of service and entitled to $2,500 a year retirement pay could not be taken on by his agency. He advocated a pending bill which he said would permit them to accept.

They would not draw retired pay in an administration job paying $3,000 or more, he explained.

Above-Water Phase of Bikini Tests May Prove Big Flop

By ELTON C. FAY

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Atom bombardiers say the first act of the Bikini tests this spring may be a dramatic flop.

The big target fleet may show little real damage.

But the men who'll touch it off suggest the explosion above the array of warships will demonstrate the dreadful versatility of the atomic bomb.

It could, they say, kill or cripple entire crews of structurally intact vessels and thus prove to be an anti-personnel weapon of tremendous magnitude.

In a sense, the atomic bomb will be mis-used in the first of the three tests—a land weapon applied against a naval target. Studies predicated on results at Nagasaki and Hiroshima, where the bombs were exploded in midair as they will be in the first Bikini drop, indicate the possibility that few or perhaps none of the approximately 100 target ships may be sunk.

This may be especially true if the ships are anchored bow-on to the bomb burst, so that the streamline character of the hulls and super-structures let some of the blast slide past.

The first test will specialize on an analysis of radiant energy produced by the bomb burst—the instantaneous burning effect of heat in millions of degrees and the effects of short wave radiation which kills men. The other two tests, one with the bomb exploded at surface and the other underwater, will be essentially a test of the ships themselves.

City Firemen Are Kept Busy Monday

Kingston's fire department was kept busy Monday answering several alarms of fire, in addition to the fire in the roof at the Kingston Trust Co. on Main street.

Two grass fires, one on Augusta street and the other on Chapel street, were extinguished early in the afternoon.

At 4:27 p. m. the firemen responded to a call to 58 Hunter street where dust and lint on top of the dome of a pipeless heater had ignited. There was no fire damage, but considerable smoke.

Shortly after 6 o'clock last night the firemen were called to the Katz junk yard on lower Hasbrouck avenue, where a rubbish fire had broken out.

William Rittenhouse set up the first paper mill in America in 1690, near Philadelphia.

Albany, N. Y., March 12 (AP)—James J. Mahoney, who during 33 years of state service was Assistant Secretary to seven governors and who the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt once termed "My old side kick," will retire Friday.

Mahoney, who began his career as a page boy in the executive offices, served former Governors William H. Sulzer, Martin H. Glynn, Charles S. Whitman, Nathan Miller, Alfred E. Smith, Roosevelt and Herbert H. Lehman.

For the past two years he has been secretary in the Conservation Department.

Roosevelt used the "side kick" term in autographing a picture he gave Mahoney.

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, March 12 (AP)—Russian troops evacuating Mukden have insufficient transportation facilities to move directly to Soviet territory, consequently must make stopovers at Changchun, the Soviet chief of staff officially informed Chinese officials today.

A growing Chinese government force was reported in control of Mukden as the retiring Russians yielded barracks and factories of that Manchurian industrial center.

The Chinese government meantime prepared to dispatch truce teams to halt Chinese factional strife.

A Chinese Central News dispatch from Changchun, the Manchurian capital, reported that 104 hours after the evacuation, Gen. Tung Yen-Ping, head of the Chinese Military Mission in Manchuria, called on the Russian chief of staff and asked about the troop movements.

The Soviet officer replied that, inasmuch as the Chinese government had announced its readiness to take over garrison duties in Mukden, Soviet forces had begun to leave the city. He gave no indication how long they would stop in Changchun. Previous dispatches from that city said there was no indication their preparations were for temporary billeting.

Still another Chinese student "Quit Manchuria" demonstration against Russia was staged in Chungking today, 21st anniversary of the death of Sun Yat Sen, founder of the republic. About 4,000 participated. One of their banners read "Rise to Resist Encroachment."

Chinese Communist and government representatives and General Marshall, special U. S. envoy, agreed in principle yesterday that truce teams should visit Manchuria. Details are being worked out. Marshall left immediately for Washington to report to President Truman.

Officers Get Skunk

The police department received a telephone call yesterday for assistance in disposing of a skunk which had taken shelter under the garage on the grounds of St. Ursula Academy in Ponckhockie. Officers James Burns and Elbert Soper in one of the radio cars responded and shot the animal.

Approximately 160,000 people die of cancer every year.

France Spurs Bid For U. S. Support In Franco Ouster

By JOHN M HIGHTOWER

Washington March 12 (AP) — France is expected shortly to submit fresh evidence on Spain to this country in a renewed bid for American support in carrying the case against Generalissimo Franco to U N O s Security Council

The original French proposal drew a formal rejection from the United States, which thereby broadened the split among the permanent Big Five members of the Security Council Russia has sided with France in agreeing that the United Nations agency should be given a complaint against Franco while the United States and Britain are opposed China has taken no stand

The incident is the latest in a long series involving Soviet American relations and bringing to light sharp differences in their approaches to critical world problems

On another of the diplomatic fronts involving the United States and Russia the State Department yesterday made public a note denying Russian contentions that the United States was trying to play a lone hand in influencing the make-up of the Bulgarian government

Also last night the Department released the text of its note to France on Spain This communication however left the way open for reconsideration of the American position [illegible] evidence on which to base a case against Franco in the Security Council

The French Case

Diplomatic officials familiar with the French view, say Paris may seek to show

First that with approximately 2 000 000 men under arms in Spain Franco has the largest Army in relation to population of any country in Europe today and

Second that about the time France closed the Spanish frontier recently Franco reinforced his frontier military units

The French argue that these things are evidence of a menace of international peace and security

The bulk of the American note was devoted to a rejection of the French bid for joint sponsorship in appealing to the Council mainly on the ground that Franco does not represent a threat to international peace and it therefore is up to the Spanish people themselves to get rid of him

The Soviet charge of American activity in Bulgaria came in the midst of a barrage of American criticisms of Soviet conduct in Iran and Manchuria

In the Bulgarian case the United States took the position in a recent note to Sofia that the two opposition political leaders to be added to the government there should be given real authority and not be ministers in name only

In response to Moscow complaints about this action the note released by the State Department yesterday said that the United States had not broken an agreement made in Moscow last December and that it had informed the Russian government in February of its views on Bulgaria which later were presented to the Bulgarian government

Nuernberg, Germany, March 12 (AP)—Field Marshal Albert Kesselring told the International Military Tribunal today that he was at least partly responsible for bombing of Warsaw, Rotterdam and Coventry

The militarist, who opposed American troops in Italy and France, testified for Herman Goering one of 22 Nazis on trial as war criminals

"The bombs on Coventry landed perfectly Kesselring said 'Sometimes a whole area must be considered as a target '

He said the British city was a "technical and industrial center' and that German planners called it a 'Little Essen"

'I am very sorry as a soldier for 22 years if the attack on Rotterdam was not what it should have been" he testified, explaining he had heard the attack was made during the armistice negotiations But if this was the case—and I never was able to find out—it should be counted as an accident of war

The Marshal said he commanded the air attack on Warsaw He described the Polish capital as a fortress and asserted that 'every thing possible was done to hit only military targets"

He described the Luftwaffe which Goering commanded, as 'a defensive weapon '

Connally Calls For Big Three to Have Conference

Washington, March 12 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex) called today for a new Big Three meeting to discuss 'in language clear and plain and if need be blunt," issues he said otherwise may blaze into world friction

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee sounded an optimistic note on future relations with Russia—provided they are based on such plain speaking

But he told his colleagues in a prepared address that Russia must understand that while she has the unchallenged right to maintain any form of government she wants these rights do not extend beyond her boundaries

Connally called for maintenance by this country of an adequate army a superior navy and a superlative air force

There are nearly 800 pulp and paper mills in the United States today

Materials Short For Building in Kingston Sector

that there was no oak flooring, a big item in the flooring demand This same dealer said that overseas shipments from west coast yards, for better prices that can be obtained here, have much to do with lessening the home supply

Another dealer, who said that he did not have enough lumber on his yard to build one house being completely out of some materials, told of some recent experiences in attempting to meet requirements of his trade Over a year ago, he said I ordered a car of siding It arrived recently, but instead of a car it was half a carload—and that was not what I ordered He added that in February he ordered a pair of garage doors for a customer The reply came back that the doors would be shipped next August Window frames he said particularly were out of the market

Query as to where the lumber came from that was being used for occasional houses which had been noted under construction brought the reply that probably it was native lumber

There are probably a hundred people a day who come to our yard looking for lumber or other building supplies said this same dealer Perhaps they are lucky enough to find some one item then they move on to seek elsewhere hoping to find a part of their needs at another yard

As to what was in sight so far as betterment of the situation was concerned the answer was, nothing" The speaker said, 'Your guess is as good as mine"

Allied Power to Pass On New Jap Constitution

Washington March 12 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said today Japan s new constitution eventually will be submitted to the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission which is responsible for coordinating Allied policy on Japan

That would give Russia, Britain and other interested powers an opportunity to pass upon the new basic charter designed to strip the Emperor of sovereign power and establish personal democratic liberties in Japan

Byrnes was asked at a news conference whether the constitution announced March 6, has been submitted to any Allied power other than the United States which exercises, through Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme control in Japan

It was not, Byrnes said, adding that it had been drawn up by the Japanese themselves in accordance with what he called their rights

But he said that before it becomes effective, it will be placed before the Far Eastern Commission

Plan More Shipping

Meanwhile 18 member nations of the United Maritime Board, were getting ready to put into action a shipping agreement aimed at speeding the transport of food and other commodities to needy overseas areas The pact, announced by the State Department, pledges the countries to meet U N R R A shipping agreements.

Herbert Hoover, honorary chairman of the famine committee, was making plans to leave shortly for a new survey of food requirements in the needy European areas as representative of Mr. Truman, and may depart Sunday.

Offer Suggestions

In launching its call for food conservation and sharing, the Famine Committee, addressed offered suggestions to housewives, waiters cooks bakers, restaurant proprietors and the like

Housewives, for example, were urged to substitute potatoes for bread, to use oat cereals and fruits more often and to save excess fats for cooking purposes

Restaurants were told they could cooperate by serving only a single roll or slice of bread with a meal, instead of putting a basket of rolls or platter of bread on the table.

Food distributors could help, the committee said, by pushing the use of more plentiful foods prevailing, such as the present abundance of potatoes, fish, eggs, poultry, citrus fruits and seasonal vegetables

Other suggestions included·

Buckwheat cakes instead of wheat cakes, broiled instead of fried fish (to save fats), substitution of fruit and other desserts for pastries, elimination of the use of toast for garnishing main dishes and the temporary banishment of the three-decker layer-cake

The committee laid special emphasis of the necessity for preventing waste throughout the campaign for it declared that this country "still throws away the richest garbage in the world"
